$75,000 Water Project for Woodland Passes

COUNCIL TAKES 8 MINUTES TO APPROVE JOB

8 Members Are Unanimous as Solons Take Up Issue 2nd Night In Row.

WPA TO FURNISH LABOR

Provides For Tank Tower and Pumps at Reservoir, New 20-Inch Mains.

City council today had cleared the way for a $75,000 waterworks improvement program in Woodland, the first step in a city-wide water program that has been under discussion for the past two years.

Meeting Saturday evening for the second time in as many nights, council was unanimous in its approval of the project, passing it as an emergency measure. All eight members present voted for the ordinance which was passed in eight minutes and signed immediately by Mayor Claude M. Hunter.

The construction of the tank tower is designed to provide for increased water pressure in the Woodland area, while the 20-inch main will serve to bolster the water supply in the business district.

Miller Only Absentee.

The only absentee was Fifth Ward Councilman Fred Miller who cast the lone negative vote the night previous when the project was considered at a special session. Miller announced at that time that he would be unable to attend Saturday's meeting which was decided on after some question arose as to whether the 6 to 1 vote Friday was sufficient to pass the measure as an emergency.

The legislation calls for the construction of a tank tower and booster pumps at the Woodland reservoir, a 20-inch main on Cook road from the reservoir to Lexington avenue, and a 20-inch main on Lexington avenue from Cook road to Antibus place and continuing from that point to Blanche street with a 16-inch main.

Will Take 3 Months.

The Works Progress Administration has already agreed to furnish all labor. The project will provide employment for 150 men for at least three months.

Council is expected to complete

STARTS PROBE

Duffy Names 2 Investigators For Nazi Bund Inquiry.

COLUMBUS — (INS)— Returning today from a business trip to New York, Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy announced two investigators were being assigned by his office to investigate alleged Nazi activities in Ohio.

Duffy declined to reveal the names of the men assigned to the Nazi probe or to say where they will go first. He said that since announcing the probe last week, several American Legion posts have commended his action.

The attorney general was still awaiting a reply from German-American bund headquarters in New York to his request for information on its activities in this state.

COL. HOUSE OF WAR FAME DIES

Was President Wilson's Chief Adviser During Conflict, at Peace Parley.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Col. Edward M. House, internationally known as a close advisor to President Woodrow Wilson during the trying World war era, died today after a long illness. He was 79 years old.

Colonel House's physicians said several weeks ago that he was "failing steadily" and that death was only a matter of time. He was suffering from a complication of ailments, and only last week had another relapse.

Only members of his family, including the widow, were with him when he died. His daughter, Mrs. Gordon Auchincloss, and her husband also were there.

For many years, Colonel House was active in affairs of the Democratic party. He climaxed this activity when he became the personal representative of President Wilson to European governments in 1914, 1915 and 1916

In 1917, President Wilson appointed Colonel House to gather and organize data to be used at the eventual peace conference, and he served as special representative of this country at the inter-allied conference of premiers and foreign ministers, held in Paris, Nov. 29, 1917, to effect a more complete co-ordination of the activities of the entente cobelligerents for the prosecution of the war.

He again represented the president in the supreme war council at Versailles, Dec. 1, 1917, and on Authorities were called to investigate when neighbors saw the machine standing on the highway.

JURY INDICTS 15 OHIO FUEL GAS OFFICIALS

Rendering False Bills, Perjury, Obtaining Money Illegally Charged In Report.

DEVELOPS FROM SUIT

Criminal Findings Follow $42,000,000 Action Based on Gas Dilution.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Fifteen officials of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, and its parent, the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation of New York, were indicted by the Franklin county grand jury today.

The indictment included two counts of rendering false bills to a municipality, two counts of obtaining money under false pretenses, and one perjury count.

The grand jury investigation that resulted in the indictments developed from the $42,000,000 suit against the Gas company, brought by City Attorney John L. Davies last Sept. 18. The suit charged the firm with conspiring to defraud 700,000 Ohio gas consumers by diluting fuel gas with inert gas between 1929 and 1937.

Named in Indictments.

The indictments, based upon alleged dilution of natural gas supplies, were returned against:

Rendering a false bill to a municipality — the Ohio Fuel Gas company; Philip G. Gosler, chairman of the board of Columbia Gas and Electric; Charles A. Monroe, Norwich, Conn., president of Columbia Oil and Gasoline corporation; Edward Reynolds, jr., New York, president of Columbia Gas and Electric; John G. Pew, Pittsburgh, director of Columbia Gas and Electric; Thomas B. Gregory, Pittsburgh, director of Columbia Gas and Electric; Louis A. Seyffert, Columbus, vice president of Ohio Fuel Gas, E. M. Tharp, Columbus, vice president of Ohio Fuel Gas; Thomas H. Kerr, Columbus, vice president of Ohio Fuel Gas; H. C. Blackwell, Cincinnati, vice president of Columbia Gas and Electric; James M. Fred Reibaldi, 37, killed Policeman Maurice Handloff in Philadelphia in a holdup Sept. 10, 1937. Mumbling "so long, warden," he was next.

Mexico was faced with a dilemma today, as the United States announced it would cease buying Mexican silver, which followed within a week the action of the Mexican government in expropriating American oil companies in Mexico. Property of American and British oil interests was declared forfeit to the state by President Lazaro Cardenas. Protests were filed immediately by Josephus Daniels, U. S. ambassador, but were not expected to bring any change in the government action. Pictured above are President Cardenas and Ambassador Daniels, a map showing the location of the richest fields, around Tampico, a view of Tampico and another view of a typical oil field.

Slain Girl, Red Rose On Funeral Dress, Cremated

Parents of Accused Youthful Slayer Join Father and Mother of Girl at Tragic Services.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—They cremated 18-year-old Charlotte Matthiesen yesterday with a red rose pinned to her white dress and violets in her hands.

There had been a funeral, but before the mourners were let in, her mother closed herself into the room and prayed before the casket. She sent a friend for pink sweet peas and entwined them in her daughter's hair, murmuring: "schlaf in ruh, Liebchen" ("sleep in peace, my darling.").

All Four Parents There.

The mourners were then entering the chapel and the mother turned from the casket and all but fell into a chair beside a man who had just taken his seat, and buried her face against his shoulder. He was not Charlotte's father, but Donald Carroll, sr., father of the 16-year-old boy who killed her.

Carroll comforted and escorted Mrs. Frederick Matthiesen and Matthiesen was always with Mrs. Carroll. It was as though they had intended to symbolize their understanding of the tragic young love which involved Charlotte and Donald in what seemed to them a situation that only death could solve.

The boy and girl wrote suicide notes last week in the Carroll home. She helped him locate her heart by its beat and helped him hold his father's pistol against her chest. He pulled the trigger, then lost his nerve and instead of killing himself, called the police.

The red rose Matthiesen took from the bouquet Donald sent from jail, and pinned it to his daughter's dress. It seemed to

The girl, her skull fractured, lay unconscious at a hospital more than four hours before she was identified by her mother, Mrs. Mary E. McCoy, cafe operator.

Bruised and bleeding, she was found in a vacant lot late last night.

Surgeons said she showed evidence of having been criminally attacked. She was suffering from critical head and internal injuries.

KEEPS PACE IN TRAFFIC DRIVE

County's Reduced Toll Tops National Figure; Engineer Killed Near Millersburg.

With only one person reported injured in week-end traffic, Richland county continued to keep pace today with the nation in showing a marked reduction in traffic fatalities for the first three months of the year.

So far this year, four persons have died in the county of traffic injuries as compared with six at the same time last year, a reduction of 33 per cent. In the nation the reduction from last year has been about 18 per cent, according to the National Safety council. With 25 states reporting decreases in automobile fatalities, more than 900 lives have been saved since the first of the year as the result of safety measures, the council reported.

Week-end traffic and railroad accidents claimed at least 17 lives in Ohio, however, the highest toll of the year, press dispatches said.

Railroad accidents accounted for eight deaths. One of the victims was Edward Scott, 58, a Pennsylvania railroad engineer, who was crushed to death under a locomotive early Sunday near Millersburg. Scott, who was piloting the first engine on a double-header northbound freight was run over by the engine as it coasted backward after being uncoupled.

Fascists In 3-Way Drive To Catalonia

Pushes Advance for Quick Capture of City, Clear Route to Sea.

(By United Press)

WITH THE SPANISH NATIONALIST ARMY, CATALONIAN BORDER—Nationalist troops advanced into Catalonia on the Fraga sector in three columns today.

They had forced back across the Cinca river the last of the government troops — a division rushed from Madrid.

Consolidating their positions on the Catalonian side of the river the nationalist penetrated the main Lerida road and took positions near the Sierra De La Mezquite range of hills. They extended their control of the area north of Fraga on the road along the Zaidin canal. From the village of Masalcorreig, where they first crossed into Catalonia, the nationalists began moving along the Segre river, which runs direct to Lerida.

Near Loyalist Quarters.

They were hardly more than 12 miles from Lerida, loyalist general headquarters, as they advanced on the Faraga-Lerida road, and they were but 18 miles from Lerida in the Segre river valley.

The nationalists resumed their advance yesterday from Candasnos, 16½ miles west of Fraga on the main road to the loyalist headquarters at Lerida.

The loyalists had retreated to an extraordinarily fortified area on the plateau which dominates the Cinca valley. To a depth of 4½ miles on the west bank of the river the ground was studded with trenches and concrete blockhouses.

Muster Resources To Stem Advance.

BARCELONA —(U.P.)— Loyalist leaders sought urgently today to muster their last resources to stem a nationalist drive—for the Mediterranean sea and the heart to Catalonia.

The cabinet confirmed 17 death sentences against men accused of desertion, rebellion and espionage.

The secret police organization was dissolved and merged into the "SIM"—the military intelligence service—in order to give army authorities firmer control.

TVA QUIZ NEXT

House Committee Takes Up Senate Order for Probe.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The house rules committee considers today a senate-approved resolution for a joint congressional investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

A report to the house may be delayed until tomorrow because of several proposals for an inquiry of the $400,000,000 power and regional planning agency that must be discussed. Passage of the senate resolution by Wednesday is virtually assured, however.

House leaders predicted confidently that the committee would approve the measure passed by the senate Friday which calls for five senators and five representatives to determine whether the TVA has been improperly administered and whether private utilities have attempted to undermine and discredit it.

THOUSANDS IN U.S. DEMANDING BILL'S DEFEAT

Foes of Reorganization Plan Attempt to Turn Fight Into Last Minute Victory.

SHOWDOWN VOTE TODAY

Administration Aids Answer Coughlin After Radio Talk Condemns Measure.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Foes of the government reorganization bill tried to turn an apparent defeat into a last-minute victory today by deluging senators with thousands of telegraphic protests.

The volume of messages, reminiscent of the stacks received during the court reorganization fight, increased as the time approached for a vote on returning the administration measure to committee (3 p. m.).

If the motion lost, the senate agreed to take a final vote on the bill itself two hours later.

Leaders Renew Appeals.

Administration leaders, although predicting passage by a narrow margin, renewed their appeals to noncommittal senators in view of the outpouring of telegrams.

One telegraph company said it handled between 40,000 and 50,000 messages on the subject yesterday. Many were sent after an address by Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, urging his listeners to oppose the bill.

Senators Byrnes (D-SC), generalissimo of the administration forces, and Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash) promptly broadcast speeches in support of the measure.

"Once again our nation's leading breast beaters, both in and out of the senate," said Schwellenbach, "have discovered another dark plot by the president to destroy our form of government."

He termed the bill necessary to eliminate duplication, inefficency and waste.

The bill's opponents, on the contrary, have contended an "administration lobby" has been working for its passage, and have declared "extreme pressure" was being applied to senators.

Defeat Modifications.

Administration forces defeated all major attempts to modify the bill, which would give the president broad powers to revamp federal agencies.

It also would create a new welfare department in the cabinet, overhaul the civil service, abolish

Housewife Wins $10,000 Prize For 'First Novel'

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— A $10,000 prize for a first novel has been won by Elizabeth Seifert, a Moberly, Mo., housewife, it was announced today by Dodd, Mead and company, publishers.

In private life Elizabeth Seifert is Mrs. John Gasparotti, mother of four children and a native Missourian, having been born in Washington, Mo. She attended public schools in St. Louis and was graduated from Washington university there.

Her novel, "Young Doctor Galahad," concerns the life of a young physician in a small city like Moberly. Miss Seifert's interest in medicine dates to her college life when she had ambitions to become a physician. Thwarted by poor health and family disapproval, she succeeded in taking only a few pre-medic courses. After graduation she was employed as chemical secretary in a hospital.

From these experiences and later observations she fashioned the framework of her book.

Upholds Registration, Penalty In 1935 Holding Company Act

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The supreme court today approved constitutionality of registration and companion penalty provisions of the 1935 public utility holding company act.

The opinion, reached by a six-to-one decision, was delivered by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Justice James C. McReynolds dissented. Jutices Benjamin N. Cardozo and Stanley F. Reed did not participate.

The high tribunal held that the registration provision, requiring all utility holding companies to register with the securities and exchange commission, and the penalty clause, barring non-complying firms from using the mails or engaging in interstate commerce, are separable from the remainder of the act and constitute valid congressional regulation of interstate commerce.

McReynolds' dissent was merely noted at the conclusion of Hughes' opinion. He did not deliver any opinion, oral or written.

The decision affirmed a second circuit court of appeals ruling which rejected the challenge of the Electric Bond and Share to validity of the whole act.

The case, accepted by the industry and the government as a test of the measure's validity, was regarded generally as the most important litigation to come before the high court during its 1937-38 term.

Principal point of contention was whether the registration and penalty provisions were separable from the act's other provisions. The government contended that they were separable, and that the

Death In Family Forces Davey To Cancel Mansfield Address

Gov. Martin L. Davey's scheduled speech in Mansfield Friday night was cancelled today as the governor left for St. Louis where the wife of his brother, James, died of pneumonia, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The News-Journal.

The speech here was to have launched the Democratic primary campaign in the 17th district. Party leaders from nine counties had been invited to participate in the rally.

The governor also cancelled his talk at Youngstown Thursday night when observers had predicted he would announced his candidacy for a third term.

E. B. Kallmerten, chairman of the Richland County Democratic executive committee, who invited Davey to speak here, said further plans for the rally here would not be announced until he has definite information from the governor's office.

Mrs. Myrna Smith, Gov Davey's personal secretary, will substitute for him on the radio at 7:15 p. m. today. Instead of reading his prepared address, she said she would talk on "The Inside Picture of the Governor After Being His Secretary for 18 Years."

In her radio talk, she explained, she will tell "how the governor thinks, what his impulses are, and how he reacts to all kinds of circumstances."

The governor's sister-in-law, who died this morning after a five-day illness, was the wife of the New York manager of the Davey Tree Expert company. Her husband had been in St. Louis for a lecture on tree surgery.

Which of Two Should She Marry?

By VIRGINIA LEE

PAT WANTS some help in deciding which of two young men she should marry. Pat is 23, and feels she is old enough to "settle down, look after my own house and have babies." She likes to "putter around a kitchen and keep house," she says.

She goes with two boys, neither of whom knows she goes with the other. Both are getting serious now and she can't decide which she should give up and which she should wed.

One, whom she calls X, is only 20—three years younger than Pat; works when he can get work to do, doesn't own anything but makes his own living. He used to drink and run around before he went with Pat, but doesn't any more.

The other, whom she calls Y, is older—five years older than Pat "At times I like him an awful lot," writes Pat, "and yet at times I am very cold and distant towards him." In fact, according to her, both boys have their good and both their bad points—a not unusual condition. Y has a good job, is always a gentleman, and always has money to pay their way when they go out together. X sometimes doesn't have any funds, and Pat has to pay for both of them. Her people favor Y, she says

Maybe you haven't met the right man yet, Pat. I feel it is not wise to marry one man when you like another very well too If things go wrong after you are married, you probably will decide that you should have married the other, instead of thinking that in every marriage there are things to adjust and making the best of it That is the danger in your position.

From a worldly point of view, the first young man is too young and too unreliable financially to marry yet. He should not wed anyone until he is at least of age and has regular employment.

The other is eligible in every respect, but if you feel cold toward him and are not sure of your own feelings you would not be wise to marry him.

SORROWFUL is in love with a boy six years her senior. She went with him last summer, but had to refuse dates since then because her parents did not allow her to go with boys. Now her parents think she is old enough to have dates, but the boy has another girl, although he promised to wait for Sorrowful. She wants me to tell her how to get him back

Sorry, but the only thing you can do is to let him know that you now are allowed to have dates If he prefers the other girl, there is nothing you can do but reconcile yourself to it.

THEATER

BIG movie salaries will do a Humpty-Dumpty and "take a great fall" in the near future according to coast columnists. Production costs have gone up 25 per cent and box office receipts have fallen off 30 per cent. Besides this hard luck, the foreign markets have all but collapsed. Every Hollywood studio is whacking off overhead, and as usual the $50 a week people suffer first. But the stars are bound to feel the pinch too, and such stars as Marlene Dietrich who has a flat salary of $250,000 a picture, and Mae West who rates $450,000 a year (and only makes one picture annually) are bound to take a cut unless their contracts are so arranged that they can't be juggled. The net result will probably be fewer "super colossal" pictures and musicals for the time being.

One-Time Star Appears.

Although they have no distinguishing place on the cast, at [illegible] players have bit parts in "The Big [illegible] which is current at the Madison. Listed only as "women" on the long roster of players are Ethel Clayton, once one of the screen beauties and top ranking stars; Gertrude Astor, Mary McLaren and Mae Busch. Only the oldsters among movie fans will recognize them. The big musical which is made up of screen and radio talent is built around W. C. Fields in a dual role—Mr. Bellows and his brother. Mr. Bellows owns a superluxury liner which is pitted against another big steamer in a race across the Atlantic, and all of the action takes place on the two ships, running "neck and neck" across the pond. Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour, Shirley Ross, Lynne Overman, Bob Hope and others are featured.

Rebecca Up-To-Date.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" brings radio down by the old mill stream, to raise a bumper crop of song and fun, with tall Randolph Scott and Gloria Stuart romancing. Shirley Temple and Bill Robinson tapping and Jack Haley and Slim Summerville making merry in their own particular lines of attack. "Rebecca" is the Ohio attraction, bringing the becurled star in her latest musical which also has a story and nice romance to keep it moving. The story, incidentally, has been brought up to date so definitely that it may be said the Kate Douglas Wiggin novel merely "suggested it." The original Rebecca had never heard of radio, and she wasn't a singer nor dancer. There are a number of new songs in it, as well as some of Shirley's old songs.

Adventure In Shanghai.

Behind the headlines of the news stories which emanate from the International Settlement in Shanghai, are some tremendously interesting stories, which far outthrill the one that make the newspapers, and it is with one of these stories that "International Settlement" deals. Americans in the danger zone, defying their government's warning to evacuate, living their strange, adventurous lives according to the dictates of the moment. In the list of characters are Dolores Del Rio, George Sanders, June Lang and Dick Baldwin. The Majestic offers this, along with "Tarzan Escapes" for its mid-week bill. Johnny Weismuller and Maureen O'Sullivan, the original screen Tarzan and his mate, head the cast.

Love In a Garret.

Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell are co-starred in "Live, Love, and Learn," a story of Greenwich Village and the artists whose ambitions are fostered there. Montgomery plays an artist, struggling in a garret studio who suddenly rises to fame when a bunch of sailors and marines in Central park start a fight about the merits of his pictures. But his sudden recognition and social lionizing destroy the integrity of his work and the woman who had inspired his best work, leaves him. Helen Vinson in a siren role, Mickey Rooney, Monty Woolley and Robert Benchley have supporting roles. "Borneo," the adventure picture that Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson made in the jungles of Borneo before his death, is the second feature at the Ritz.

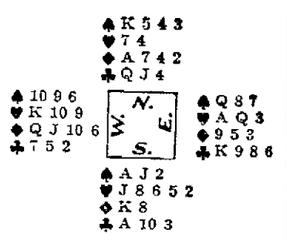
"The Authority on Authorities"

THE UNBALANCED PAIR

While not arguing for the principle, it is only candid to report that better players of the cards try to become declarers when they have poor players as partners. This results in some queer bidding and therefore some queer contracts. You even see five-card suits rebid a couple of times. Such tactics occasionally bring about interesting play, when the declarer has to do the best he can with a moth-eaten trump suit.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

South started the bidding on this deal, third hand, with a 1-Heart bid, which West passed and North responded with 1-No Trump South now called 2-Hearts and when North again bid no trump, South rebid his hearts for the third time, whereupon North took the contract to 41 Hearts.

When the diamond Q was led, South won with the K, and immediately realized he was playing with a very sad looking trump suit. However, he decided to take the bull by the horns and lead trumps out, with the hope that the distribution of the opponents would be three-three. West won the first heart trick and returned the diamond J to the A. Declarer led a second trump and ruffed the diamond that was offered. A third heart lead cleared trumps. East returned a club, which declarer let ride to the J, finessed the spade J and won the remaining tricks.

If rust stains from screens appear after the curtains are washed, they may be removed before the rinsing by using a solution of two tablespoons of oxalic acid crystals in one pint of warm water. This solution may be applied to the stain with a dropper. Applications should be continued until the stain is gone. The curtain is then rinsed thoroughly, one tablespoonful of ammonia being added to the last rinse.

Suggestions For New Ways To Fix Hair

By JULIET SHELBY

(Central Press Writer on Beauty)

The page boy haircut is on the way out. This is the decision of the millinery designers and the coiffure creators who recently gathered together in solemn conclave. The delightfully feminine and amusing spring hats just had to get together in some manner with the gay ringlets that they were made to set off and protect.

So we mere women will not have to rack our brains any more about what to do with the long expanse of straight hair that showed between the little chapeau and the neckline curls. It did look pretty incongruous. Now the hairdressers have come to our rescue with lots of brand new ideas that sound fascinating and will set off a jaunty new bonnet like a dream.

Don't Sacrifice Looks.

Around spring a girl's fancy usually turns to changing her hair styling, and this year we have a really good reason for doing so. When you decide to change, bear in mind the new hat. Of course the hairdressers are of one mind about brushing the hair up. They think the long hair cuts are definitely dated, and they are stuck with that thought.

But don't sacrifice your looks to be chic. Try out lots of different brushings until you hit on something that seems to be completely your baby. We'll start with the most extreme and work down. Brush your hair up all around, and curl the top hair in big jelly roll curls, or have it done in flat coils. Have an excellent hair cut to start with, and it has to be fairly long to work out this style.

One of the upward sweep adoptions that is also more on the practical side is: Have the hair about two and a half inches long in back, and brush it straight up against the head. The curls again must be soft. Combing it ever so often keeps the hair in place, and it will look swell under any hat that you'll be likely to see this season. It is parted on the side, with the side curls brushed up to meet the back ones. A soft loose coil for the top hair is all that is necessary there.

If you've got fairly short locks, this is a clever arrangement. Brush the hair straight across the back of the head, having it end in flat curls. The front is curled in a pompadour, and bangs are a matter of taste.

Of course with these coiffes it's almost a necessity to have a permanent, and the hair shouldn't be cut so short in back that it can't be trained into smooth rolls. Then you will be amazed to find how well it will stay if you brush and train it with a little lotion or brilliantine.

With a new hair setup and a new hat there'll be no stopping you, and boy friend or husband won't have a chance to say how silly the new topper it. It will blend perfectly with the new hair comb.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, March 29.

This should be a very lively day, with much occurring to effect a stabilization of the fortunes, according to the planetary aspects. Events of a surprising nature are in order, which may call for definite decisions and drastic action, probably in connection with work, employment, property or investments. Recognition of industry, steadfastness and faithful service may mark such reassuring opportunities, which may be grasped with confidence.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which their affairs may be put on a solid basis. Surprising developments may bring this about. A sudden change or a journey may call for a quick decision in connection with employment, investments or property, but such an opportunity may be grasped with every assurance of success.

A child born on this day may be enterprising and energetic, practical and constructive, with much dependability and staunchness of character in spite of a tendency to frequent change, travel and adventure. It may be industrious, studious, steadfast.

Beet skins may be removed quickly if beets are put in very hot water for a brief time. Drain off the hot water and quickly place beets in cold water.

When peeling apples preparatory to making pies, drop each apple as peeled into a pan of cold water to which a few drops of lemon juice have been added. They will not then turn brown.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

The lessons I learned when with Lillian in the war secret service have left their imprint upon me so thoroughly that I am usually wary and alert in emergencies. But so strong was my sudden psychic sense that there were sinister eyes watching Mary and me, as we stood in front of one of the big Fifth avenue stores "window shopping," I had all I could do to keep from turning my head quickly, or from betraying sudden perturbation in my face—fatal errors, both, if one wishes to find out anything about the watching eyes.

In some way I managed to keep my face calm and turned toward the window. The next instant I indicated to Mary an attractive piece of neckwear displayed in the window and made a comment upon it. She bent with me for a closer look at it, and swiftly I employed a trick Lillian taught me long ago, that of scrutinizing faces from beneath lowered eyelashes.

A mirror was set into the window at such an angle that by taking a step to the right, I could get a view of every passerby within several feet of us on either side. I waited, although every nerve shrieked at the delay, until Mary had inspected the bit of neckwear, then called her attention, still casually, to another piece at the right of it. To insure her seeing it, I was compelled to step the pace to the right I needed, and from beneath my lowered eyelids, I scanned the people behind me.

It took me several seconds to find the eyes I felt upon me, but when I finally succeeded in my quest, I knew I had not been mistaken in the psychic little intuition which had come to me.

There was only one person within range of the window to which those eyes could belong. There were three women looking at the same display which was attracting our attention, but my eyes were trained under Lillian, and one searching look at each of them sufficed to tell me that they were innocuous shoppers. The passersby, comparatively few in number, I dismissed, for they were obviously intent upon their own business, and not one of them had eyes turned in our direction.

Spots Man in Taxi.

But a taxi was drawn up at the curb, its motor idling, and in it sat a man, bent forward in an attitude of impatience. Any novice director would have commended him for the ability with which he was registering pique at the tardiness of some woman, relative or friend, whom he was apparently—even ostentatiously—expecting to emerge from the store.

For the cinema it would have been an excellent bit of acting; for reality, I recognized it for just that. He was expecting no woman to emerge from the store. His eyes were not trained upon the door, but upon us, slighly to the left of it. And though I was too far away to catch their expression, I was as sure that those eyes held a sinister light as I was that they were intently watching Mary and me.

Believes Him Detective.

That the man was a detective, either city or private agency, I was sure, although to all appearances he was a prosperous, youngish business or professional man, impeccably attired The days of the "flatfoot," easily recognized, are no longer with us, but life as my father's daughter has brought me in contact with many plain clothes men, both government and the best private agencies, and I flatter myself that I generally can spot them—unless, of course, they are super-men in their profession, such as is Allen Drake. Honors in the queer, silent contest of wits we generally wage when we are brought into proximity with each other are distinctly on his side.

I took two steps nearer the door, indicated still another piece of neckwear, and as Mary bent toward it I said softly:

"Keep yourself in just that attitude. Don't move, don't look startled, don't ask questions, but do exactly as I tell you."

I haven't given you a party menu for some time, so today I am printing one. Of course there is nothing very original about this menu, but I thought some of you more recent housewives would not have the recipe for chicken a la king, so I would give it to you. Serve in patty shells if you prefer them to toast. You can make your own if you make a rich pastry dough and bake it in muffin tins. Better prick it so it will keep its shape. Maybe you will have better luck if you bake the shells upside down, pricking them, just for good measure. Chocolate fudg sauce can be purchased at your grocery store now, so you don't need to make it if you do not want to.

Today's Recipes.

CHICKEN A LA KING—One cup sliced mushrooms, two tablespoons chopped green pepper, two tablespoons butter, three tablespoons butter or chicken fat, five tablespoons flour, one cup chicken stock, one cup cream, top milk or evaporated milk, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, two cups diced cooked chicken, two tablespoons piemnto, cut in strips, two egg yolks. Prepare mushrooms and green pepper. Saute five minutes in the first amount of butter. Melt second amount of fat in saucepan or in the top part of a double boiler. Blend in flour. Stir in chicken stock slowly to make a smooth paste. When thickened and smooth stir in cream or top milk gradually. Season well. Add mushroom and pepper mixture, chicken and pimento. Beat egg yolks, ad da tablespoon or two of the hot mixture to them, stirring it well. When well mixed, stir into mixture. Heat over hot water and season well before serving. This amount serves six.

Never dry a fur coat which has been worn in a rainstorm near a radiator. Intense heat injures the skin. First remove the moisture with a dry cloth, then hang the coat in a cool place where it will dry.

Tempting New Dishes For Spring

By IRENE OBERLIN
Home Service Department Ohio Public Service Company.

Most housewives are looking for something a little different to serve their families and even though the following foods are basically the same, I think you will find the combinations interesting and palatable

This spaghetti is worth trying:

Baked Spaghetti.

⅔ cup butter
⅔ cup flour
3 pints milk
2 sweet green papers (finely choped)
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 small can pimentos (chopped)
6 hard cooked eggs (chopped)
6 cups cooked spaghetti
½ cup stuffed olives (sliced)
1½ cups grated cheese

Make a white sauce by blending the butter, flour and milk. Cook until thick. Add green pepper and seasoning and cook 5 minutes. Stir in pimento, hard cooked eggs, one cup cheese and spaghetti. Turn into a buttered casserole. Sprinkle with remaining cheese, garnish with sliced olives Bake at 350, 375, 50 to 60 minutes.

Casserole Dinner.

2 cups peeled and sliced potatoes
1 pound chopped beef
1 cup sliced onions
2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
2 cups canned corn
3 tbsp. chopped green pepper
1 can tomato soup
¼ lb. grated cheese
salt, pepper.

Use a large greased casserole Place the sliced potatoes in the bottom of the dish. Add half of the onions, chopped beef, macaroni, corn, peppers and tomato soup in order given Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Fill the casserole with remaining ingredients in layers Sprinkle with salt and pepper and top with grated cheese. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for about 1½ hours Serves 6 generously

Southern Baked Corn.

1 cup corn
1 cup milk
¼ cup butter
2 Tbsp pimento (chopped)
3 eggs (beatten)
1 Tsp salt
2 Tbsp flour
½ cup grated cheese

Heat the first three ingredients while measuring and mixing the remaining ingredients Add egg mixture to the heated corn and milk gradually Pour into a buttered baking dish or 8 by 8 inch square pan and bake 30 to 35 minuptes at 375 degrees

Stuffed Zuchini.

6 medium squash,
3 cups soft bread crumbs
1 small onion
2 well beaten eggs
3 Tbsp. minced parsley
1 Tsp salt
⅛ Tsp. pepper
2 Tbsp. butter
½ cup grated parmesan cheese

Wash and cut off ends of squash Don't peel. If you are using a thrift cooker place squash on rack and steam for 30 minutes, using ⅔ cup water and 1 Tsp. salt. Then cut in half lengthwise. Remove the pulp and add crumbs—minced onions—parsley—salt and pepper and well-beaten eggs. Fill shells, dot with butter. Sprinkle with cheese—Bake in a shallow pan at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Smothered Veal.

2 veal cutlets or steak sliced ¾ inch thick
2 eggs
½ (dry) bread crumbs
1 cup sour cream
Shortening
2 onions (sliced)
3 Carrots
Salt
Paprika
Pepper

Beat the eggs slightly. Cut meat into individual servings Dip meat in egg, then in crumbs and again in egg Brown in a small amount of shortening on surface of range—Place in a shallow pan. Spread carrots and onions over top. Pour cream over top—Season with salt—paprika and pepper. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 to 1½ hours.

Kitchen Hints

Add one-fourth of a teaspoonful of lemon juice to each cup of heavy cream to hasten the whipping process.

To prevent taffy and other sticky candies from becoming soft, wrap each piece in waxed paper and store it in a covered tin or glass jar A fruit jar with a firm lid is unusually satisfactory.

To whip evaporated milk. Cover the cans with two inches of cold water, slowly bring to a boil and let boil for five minutes. Cool and chill the cans thoroughly. Then pour the milk into a cold bowl and whip it with a cold beater.

Lemon juice sprinkled over fresh mushrooms during the cooking, in the proportion of half a teaspoonful of juice to a cup of mushrooms, will help keep them from turning dark if the mushrooms are not over-cooked

Wash the broiler rack of your stove in plenty of hot soapy water—just as you would wash any other cooking utensils Dry it carefully before replacing it You will then have a broiler that will continuously look like new.

Color scheme note. Try tinting your ice cubes with vegetable dyes A spring salad, for instance, is delightful to look at and unusually crisp if it is set in a bowl of green ice cubes. Desserts may be worked out in the same way.

Foods intended to be eaten with the fingers should be browned in the oven or on the broiler. Snacks to be eaten with forks may be sauted in a small quantity of butter.

Oilcloth

Tack several thicknesses of heavy cloth or paper over the corners of the table before covering it with new oilcloth. The recovering job will then be easier and will look much better.

Acknowledgment for pictures: Top—T. W. A. (Airlines); Upper left—Johns-Manville (Insulation and acoustics). Lower right—The Pullman Company.

In your home, your business and your travels every effort is made to eliminate the nuisance of noises. Cooperating in this effort, the gas refrigerator is the only fully automatic refrigerator that has succeeded in producing a refrigerator that is 100 per cent permanently silent. Your nerves are at ease. And you'll find that this silence means a real dollar savings to you! The Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator freezes without any moving parts to wear out and require replacement. Its refrigerant is circulated by a tiny gas flame that operates on high grade gas for less than 2 cents a day. Thus, the refrigerator that offers peaceful silence is the most economical to own and operate. Visit The Gas Company to see the beautiful 1938 models with the latest features. Ask how you can pay for one out of the savings it will make for you.

Japan Sets Up New Chinese Government at Nanking

TAKES CONTROL OF TERRITORY IT CONQUERED

Kai-Shek's Armies Report New Victories Over Invaders Farther Inland.

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI—A new government with Chinese personnel but dominated by Japan was set up today at Nanking—former capital of the Chinese nationalist regime—to replace Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's administration.

The new government was described by its sponsors as the "reformed government of the Republic of China."

A similar North China regime was established recently at Peiping.

Issues Manifesto.

Inauguration of the Nanking government was announced here through a manifesto signed by Liang Hung-Tze, chairman of the executive Yuan.

Liang Hung-Tze, whose post is equivalent to that of premier, formerly was secretary general under Tuan Chi-Jui, provisional chief executive of China in 1924 and 1925.

Generalissimo Chiang has been operating the nationalist government at Hankow while carrying on the fight against the Japanese invaders. He moved his government to Hankow before Nanking's capture, Dec. 11, 1937.

Dispatches from Hankow said Chinese troops had recaptured Lincheng, strategic south Shantung Province city on the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

Claim Offensive Stopped.

Chinese military leaders said they were convinced the Japanese offensive down the railway against Suchow had been stopped. Suchow, south of Lincheng, is the junction city where the Tientsin-Pukow line crosses the vital east-west Lunghai railway.

The Chinese said they cut Japanse lines of retreat in so many places around Lincheng that the invaders were forced to break ranks and take to the hills, abandoned communications established at great cost in the past two weeks' severe fighting.

That the Japanese have been suffering heavy losses in recent battles was evidenced by the arrival in Shanghai of 40 truck loads of dead soldiers. Military observers estimated there were 600 corpses in the convoy.

Parking, Traffic To Be Town Hall Topic Thursday

One of Mansfield's major problems, the traffic and parking situation, will be the topic of discussion at the next Town Hall meeting Thursday night, H. W. Arlin, chairman of the traffic safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce said today.

The subject was considered at a meeting of the group last year and several recommendations were forwarded to city council.

Thursday's discussion will be given over largely to the possibilities of parking as a solution to the downtown parking problem, along with recommendations for the rerouting of several state highways away from the heart of the city.

It has been pointed out that at least four state and national highways are routed through the business district, and that if the routes were changed, would divert a considerable amount of traffic from the already overcrowded streets.

Thursday's Town Hall session will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms on the fifth floor of the Farmer's bank building.

Put Bounty On Heads of Fleeing Convicts

Up and Down THE STREET

A large picture of President Franklin D. Roosevelt that has been tucked away in a closet at city hall for the past two years today graced the wall of Mayor Claude M. Hunter's office. Hunter explained that the ideal place for the president's photograph during a Democratic administration was not in a closet, but some place where it could be displayed with prominence—and where is a better place than the office of a Democratic mayor? he asked.

Mary Jane Bellore, clerk in the water-garbage department at the city building, is accustomed to receiving requests for building permits, but when a man hesitatingly asked her for a "birth permit," she was floored. Uncertain of his meaning and fearful of going into a discussion of the matter, she hastily referred him to the city health department. Which was the right guess after all, for what he wanted was a birth certificate blank.

An announcement in the bulletin of First Congregational church yesterday told of an exchange of hats that had occurred at the church the preceding Sunday. "One is a Dobbs purchased at the B. R. Baker company of Cleveland, and the other is a Stetson bearing the Higbee company's trademark," the announcement said. Which might be something for the "Buy In Mansfield" club to think about.

Although L. A. Cook admits that neither he nor his opponent, J. V. Suhr of Cleveland, state Legion commander, have any business claiming bowling championships, the commander of McVey post at least has the satisfaction of knowing that there is one Legionnaire that he can beat. Cook and Suhr got together to determine their bowling ability at the opening of the state Legion tournament here over the week-end, the Mansfielder winning, 489 to 465. The match, incidentally, attracted a larger audience than the regular tournament games.

CITY TO PUSH W. FOURTH JOB

Styert Begins Negotiations With State This Week on $86,000 Project.

Negotiations with the state highway department for the improvement of West Fourth street will be opened this week, Service Safety Director Tracy C. Styert announced today.

City council in a special session last week authorized Styert to negotiate with the state for the repaving of West Fourth street from North Main street to Ausdale avenue.

The legislation approved by council also stipulates that the city pay 50 per cent of the total cost of the improvement, which has been estimated at $86,000. The city's share of $43,000 would be paid from the gasoline tax and auto registration fee funds.

Present plans on file with city engineers call for the removal of the old street car rails and the resurfacing of the roadway over the present pavement with the exception of one section between Rowland and Sycamore street, which would be entirely reconstructed.

Styert said he intended to confer with A. L. Ault of Ashland, district engineer for the state highway department.

COUNTY BOARD VOTES DOOM OF FIVE MORE 'LITTLE RED SCHOOLS'

Richland county moved nearer the abandonment of its "little red schoolhouses" Saturday when the county board of education voted to consolidate five schools in the northern part of the county with the Union school district.

The consolidation, required by the state department of education, will reduce the county rural districts to 12 and will affect about 220 pupils, County Superintendent Boyd Robinson said.

Hearing on the proposed consolidation was set for 1:30 p. m. April 30 at the courthouse. Final action on the consolidation will not be taken until after the hearing, Robinson said.

The move would close the Shenandoah and Ganges schools in Bloominggrove township and the Adario high school in Butler township, but the schools will not be abandoned until additional facilities are provided in the Union district, which includes Weller and Franklin townships.

Although a state law requires the county to reduce its rural school districts to nine this year, Robinson added that it is doubtful if further consolidations can be ordered this spring. The state will take over the consolidation program if it is not completed in 1938.

Merging of districts last year eliminated nine districts in the county, most of them in the southern section of the county. In the past three years, one-room schools in the county have been reduced from more than 70 to 38.

"We can't close all the one-room schools until more building space is provided for pupils in centralized districts," Robinson said, "and additions can't be built until means of financing the building programs are found." He added that it is unlikely any of the schools affected by the board's action Saturday would be closed this year.

23 OF 38 WHO ESCAPED FROM MINE CAPTURED

Felons Blast Way Out of Shaft In Tennessee; Residents of Area Menaced.

(By International News Service)

PETROS, Tenn.—A $25 bounty on the head of each man today spurred a hunt for the felons still at large in the group of thirty-eight who blasted their way out of a coal mine shaft at the Brushy Mountain prison.

Twenty-three had been recaptured early today by the posses of townsfolk, prison guards and mountaineers led by bloodhounds in the untracked wilderness.

The searchers reported to Warden Scott Swafford others were believed trapped high on the Cumberland mountain slopes. It was still feared, however, that some had made good their getaway across the Kentucky border into the remote back country.

100 Join In Hunt.

The small army of more than 100 volunteer deputies armed with squirrel rifles, shotguns and even pitchforks spread a 20-mile ring around the prison, however, in the event that the men had hidden in the vicinity.

Clad in prison-stripes the convicts it was feared might raid homes in the district for clothes and every light in Petros burned throughout the night as the residents left at home kept on the alert against an invasion.

Warnings were broadcast as far as Knoxville, seventy miles away.

The group had a long head start. The wholesale break was not discovered until dawn Sunday when the crew of 86 was supposed to check in at the end of the night's work. The men had been sent into the shaft about 5 o'clock the evening before and normally finish their required stint about 1 a. m. After that they can rest or mine additional coal for which they are paid 25 cents a ton.

When only forty-eight appeared it was at first believed the remainder had started another mutiny similar to the "suicide" strike staged in the mine several years ago by 178 of the convict-miners. A colored trusty told guards the 38 missing men had escaped. Left virtually unguarded while at work, the men had labored for days to blast and chop out a vertical 30-foot shaft through the roof of the tunnel in the No. 4 mine to which they were assigned.

SELL-OUT SEEN

Players' Final Appearance to Be Before Full House.

A sell-out was predicted today for the Community Players presentation of "First Lady" tomorrow night at Senior High school auditorium

More seats have been reserved than for any play given in recent years, with only two rows at the back of the downstairs auditorium and three rows in the balcony unreserved.

Eight more rows were held for reservation than any time in the past and all of them were taken, according to Herbert H. Schettler, ticket chairman.

The show promises to be one of the best ever done by the Players, what with a popular Broadway play for a vehicle and a "hand picked" cast. It is a comedy of the "drawing room" type, with smart dialogue woven around a battle of wits between two women on the Washington merry-go-round.

CIVIC MUSIC DRIVE SUCCESSFUL, 2 FAMOUS ARTISTS ON PROGRAM

Mansfield will have an opportunity to hear at least two world-famous musical artists next season as the result of the membership campaign of the Civic Music association which ended Saturday night with 50 more members than last year.

A final check-up was being made today, and Mrs Paul W. Williams, general chairman of the campaign, said at least 800 members are assured for the coming season with scattered reports still to be heard from Ashland and several surrounding towns.

Rev. David Neil Roller, president of the Civic Music association expressed satisfaction over the outcome of the campaign.

"The fact that we have 50 more members than last year, and in a year when business conditions have not been encouraging, seems to me to be a vote of confidence in the association and the kind of talent it brings to Mansfield."

The talent committee, of which Marie Marks Porterfield is chairman, met Saturday night after the campaign closed, and decided on the remainder of the program for the season.

Marian Anderson, distinguished colored contralto, whose voice is a sensation in the music world, was selected earlier in the week as the first concert number. Zimbalist, world-famous violinist whose tour last year celebrated the 25th year of his concert work, will be the second number on the series.

Hortense Monath, American concert pianist who is the only American ever to have played at the Salzburg Festival, will be the third artist. She has appeared as soloist with most of the great orchestras.

Although the dates have not been decided upon, it is probable that the first concert will be given some time in October.

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

SAN FRANCISCO—It will come under the heading of new business to consider labor organization as a manifestation of the Fascist spirit, for the alarmist accusation commonly points the finger in the opposite direction.

But under Fascism the unions are supposed to be patriotic organizations with a mission to repel the revolutionary left by co-operating with business under the discipline of the state, and we are beginning to find right-wing labor bosses here who have mixed purposes.

Mr. Dave Beck, the head man of the Teamsters' Union on the Pacific Coast, is a unioneer of the patriotic type. He proclaims his purpose to co-operate with business so that capital may make a dollar, too.

So far, all right, but up in Seattle, where Mr. Beck formerly was absolute boss, this co-operation took an unexpected turn. He co-operated with capital, and business suddenly began to co-operate back, with the result that business men became union organizations, compelling their men to join unions lest their stores and plants be embargoed for maintaining the open shop.

This brought unions and business men into a very cozy relationship under the government of a city administration which was elected and controlled by Mr. Beck.

EXPECTED CO-OPERATION

A business man who plays ball with a union under a dictatorship naturally expects the union to play ball with him. Mr. Beck did not do these things officially. They were done by business men who, by yielding to the demands of labor, had become fair-haired boys of the regime and junior partners in power.

Too much competition meant close pricing and price cutting, and the unions held a regulatory authority in their power to boycott and picket any business which intruded on the zone or undercut the prices of a house in good standing.

Mr. Beck is as frank as a child in his assertion and exercise of the right and power to "crucify" any business. "Crucify" is his own word for the operation. Sometimes he finds it necessary to do this to an industry which is trying hard to co-operate, but can't for reasons beyond its control.

He boasts that he "crucified" the brewers of California in the northwest because the brewery workers in California would not surrender to his union of teamsters the brewery truckmen who belonged to the Brewery Workers' Union by prior right.

It is true that these men are teamsters, but it is also true that brewery workers are older than the teamsters and held jurisdiction over the brewery truckmen from the start.

TRUCKERS ARE NEXT

Now, in California, Mr. Beck is eager to co-operate with the trucking firms. His primary purpose is to make jobs for teamsters, but the effect of his ultimatum against the California farmers would be to banish them from their own roads in their own state.

Mr. Beck has decreed that no farmer may haul store goods back from the city to the rural districts for his neighbor or anyone except himself. The neighbor or other person must pay a trucking company to do this hauling, even though many farm trucks ride back empty from the market. The trucking firm will hire teamsters and will be very co-operative with Mr. Beck in return for the chance to make a dollar.

There remains a small matter of enforcement of this decree issued to the California farmers by a resident of the state of Washington. The exact methods of enforcement have not been determined, but if you were a farmer, how would you like to find sand in your gears or razor cuts in your tires or have an accident and break a leg? Mr. Beck, of course, is innocent of such thoughts, but teamsters are an abrupt and rugged lot and an executive cannot be held strictly accountable for the impulsive acts of individuals, can he?

It doesn't have to. The musicians—Don Ameche, Tyrone Power, Jack Haley and Chick Chandler—get their collective salary of several thousands a week for acting. The music they make as "Alexander's Ragtime Band" will be "dubbed in" later.

Here are three of the "cats" in that early-day jazz band getting their "music lessons":

Reaction to Sox Demand Unfavorable; Voegele Retires From Baseball Scene

Notifies Evans of Withdrawal, Sees Failure In Campaign for $5,000.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

CONVINCED that the general baseball public regards the demand of the Boston Red Sox exorbitant, Frank A. Voegele, who played a leading role in obtaining an affiliation with the American league club in the operation of the Mansfield club in the Ohio State league last year, today withdrew from the baseball picture.

The withdrawal of Voegele leaves the baseball situation in a very uncertain state, and it is not likely that any attempt will be made by other Mansfield parties to meet the Red Sox demand.

Demands $5,000.

In a recent letter to Voegele, Billy Evans, Red Sox farm director, stated that the Boston club would not consider another tie-up with Mansfield unless $5,000 was provided through a pre-season Booster Day ticket campaign.

As this is double the amount the Red Sox requested last year to operate a club in the city, Voegele, after consulting others interested in the return of the Boston club, decided against further consideration of the demand.

While Mansfield fans have shown considerable interest in the return of the Red Sox, Voegele stated that it would be useless to attempt a campaign to raise the money because of the resentment that the demand created.

In view of the unfavorable reaction to the Sox's demand, Voegele stated in a letter to The News-Journal today that he is retiring from the baseball picture, at least for the present year.

"I have had many inquiries as to whether or not Mansfield will be represented in the Ohio State league during the current year," Voegele, who served as president of the club during the Red Sox regime, stated in his letter. "I wish to advise the general public through the columns of The News-Journal the present situation as far as I am personally concerned.

A Large Order.

"Mr. Billy Evans, director of the Boston Red Sox farm system, has requested the sale of 5,000 tickets at $1 each for a Booster Day game. This is rather a large order for the fans of Mansfield to absorb. It has been reported to me that there is considerable resentment on the part of many of our citizens in asking Mansfield to donate this sum of money.

"Therefore, in view of this unfavorable reaction, I am retiring from any further connection with professional basefield in Mansfield, at least for the present year", he concluded.

Voegele stated that he would notify Evans, who is in the south, immediately of his retirement.

Senators Name Case to Succeed Simmons

By DILLON GRAHAM

ORLANDO, Fla. —(AP)—It seems that Master George Washington Case is a gazelle, an antelope and a hill-jumping jack-rabbit all rolled into a rookie outfielder.

At least, that was the gist of the talk exploding around the Washington training camp where Case is figured a sure-thing bet for left field. And, just sort of off handedly, the boys say no one will be in a class with him as a base thief.

Can he dust? Well, Manager Bucky Harris believes he's the fastest runner in the American league. And the league has some lads who can really pick 'em up and lay 'em down going to first.

He's so well-proportioned that he doesn't look as big as he is. Case appears little and slender but he carries 185 pounds on his 6-foot frame. He handles the ball nicely in the field and Harris thinks he'll bat around .300.

Despite all the loud talk the boys are spreading about Case, the jump from Class B in Trenton to the majors is still a good country mile. Harris has put him under one of the best flychasers and base pilferers of other years, Coach Clyde Milan, and believes Case will be playing good ball by midsummer.

Can He Dust!

Connie Mack is due an assist if Case makes good. The youngster reported to the A's three years ago as a pitcher and it was the Tall Tutor who recommended he utilize his speed in the outfield.

Owner Clark Griffith tabs him as the best bunter he's seen in many training sessions.

Case really doesn't know how to steal bases. He has a tendency to fall on his arm when he hits the dirt and the question often is not whether he's safe or out, but whether he broke an arm or a leg in the effort.

So Milan is having him wear those sliding pads thin in practice drills. He's teaching him to keep his arms outstretched and behind him when he hits the sand, how to flatten out and give the infielder only a toe as a target to tag.

If Case makes the grade—and they're giving him every possible opportunity—it will mean the end of grand old Al Simmons as a regular. Simmons slowed up to a walk last season and Harris wants a younger, fleeter man out there.

Joe Magyar Gets Chance Here Tonight

Hungarian Grappler Faces Talaber at Armory.

Joe Magyar, Hungary's slashing light-heavyweight, will get his big chance tonight in the Armory when he meets Frankie Talaber of Chicago.

Stratton

The popular idol of Hungarian fans hereabouts has been in America for quite a few months, but has recently been granted an extension of his visa. He still can't manage to wrestle with the English language, but his actions on a mat speak loud enough for the gallery to hear.

Talaber wrestled to a draw with Champion Billy Weidner some time ago and is casting about for another shot at the king-pan of the division. Magyar threatens to stop these aspirations and, in so doing, put himself in line for such a contest.

The remainder of the card offers further dynamite. Frankie Hart of Holland, stepping out on the trail of his conqueror, the Great Mephisto, will collide with strong Walter Stratton in the semi-final. The opener will bring Tex Hager of Texas into conflict with Francis Steele, Plymouth copper, who held Hager to a draw in their first meeting here two weeks ago.

Women will be admitted free tonight, if accompanied by escorts. The matches will start at 8:30.

CHAMPION BARONS REST FOR PLAYOFFS

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(INS)—The Cleveland Barons, winners of first place in the International-American hockey race, returned home today to rest up for the playoffs after taking the final game of the regular season from the Syracuse Stars, 5 to 4.

Picks Cleveland For Third Place

By DAVID J. WALSH.
(INS Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—(INS)—In a way, Mr. Clark Griffith, of Washington, is absolutely right. The New York Yankees can positively be beaten—with a flail.

Outside of that, this particular outburst must follow the set, conventional pattern of the dog-bites-man motif and admit, before the American League season starts, that doubtless everybody will know before it's over: that the Yankees, world's champions of 1937, are the best team in baseball.

Very little has happened to the American League field between seasons, except for the worse. The Detroit Tigers, beaten far off in second place last year, knew that they had to try something else and, therefore, engineered a trade with the Chicago White Sox that seems of dubious value, the White Sox, on their part, then engineered a trade with the Washington Senators and, if anything, lost what they have previously gained.

Needed Ball Club.

Meantime, about all the Cleveland Indians did was to go out and get themselves another manager, whereas what they really needed was another ball club. The rest of the league, barring Boston, hasn't mattered now for several years and still doesn't.

The situation, as a result, resolves itself into the following indicated finish, not greatly differing from that of last October:

1. New York
2. Detroit
3. Cleveland
4. Chicago
5. Boston
6. Washington
7. St. Louis
8. Philadelphia

Detroit Hopes Rest on Rowe

Tigers Believe They'll Win Flag With 'Schoolboy.'

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

LAKELAND, Fla. — (U.P.) — The feeling in the camp of the Detroit Tigers is that if Schoolboy Rowe stages a comeback they'll win the pennant.

Rowe definitely is a question mark. He looks all right and says he feels all right but the final answer won't be known until he pitches in big league competition in early May. Manager Mickey Cochrane has no way of knowing what 1938 holds for Rowe so he's making his plans to go along without him. The Tigers have a good mound staff without Rowe, and with him pitching as he did for the pennant winners of 1934 and 1935 they'd have a great hurling corps.

Rowe has pitched in two spring games, and hasn't had a recurrence of the shoulder ailment which put him on the shelf last season. The "Schoolboy" is optimistic.

"I'm not worrying at all," he says. "My arm has felt so good the past two weeks that I believe I'll be ready to pitch when it gets warm in May but I'm not going to rush my training. I'm going to take it easy."

McDONALD TO BUCKS

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Jim McDonald, 1937 Ohio State university football captain, will perform with the Cleveland Rams if he decides to turn professional, it was reported here today.

Adams Leads Gun Scoring

Winning four firsts and a second in eight matches for a shooting percentage of 583, Elmer Adams led the scoring in the weekly matches at the Muzle Loaders rifle club at the Mansfield range Saturday. Dippman finished second with three firsts and a percentage of 541. L. S. Barr compiled a 518 percentage.

Although failing to win Saturday, Harold Goetz was announced as the winner of the Navy cup for winning the most firsts in the first three months of 1938.

Elmer Light and Barr tied for the lead in the balloon bursting contest with two apiece.

Appling, Stratton Sox Casualties

LOS ANGELES — (INS) — Victory came home to roost at the White Sox camp at last today—a hard-fought 10-9 decision over the Cubs in the fifth exhibition game. The victory, however, was dearly bought, for in the course of the game Manager Jimmy Dykes saw two of his best men go to blighty with injuries which are apt to lay them up a good part of the season.

Luke Appling, fracturing a leg bone in an awkward slide at second, and Monty Stratton, straining the valuable pitching arm that was injured last fall at Yankee stadium, were the casualties.

Bob Feller's Still Tribe's Sunday Hurler

But This Time Young Star Loses to Giants.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(U.P.)—Oscar Vitt, new manager of the Cleveland Indians may be sincere when he says Bob Feller, the fireball phenomenon of the Tribe, will not be a "Sunday pitcher" this season. However, evidence was piling up to the contrary today.

Feller worked last Sunday against the New York Giants in an exhibition game and he was back on the hill yesterday when the Indians again tangled with the National League champions.

Blank Indians, 6-0.

With Cleveland's batting attack almost silenced the Giants took the contest 6 to 0. A crowd of 4,200 witnessed the game.

Feller was in the box for four innings and turned in another fine performance. The Iowa schoolboy allowed only three hits. In contrast to his last appearance the youngster's control was good and he walked only one batsman.

The first nine Giants to face the Indian star went down in order. In the fourth, however, Feller ran into a bit of trouble. Joe Moore opened the round with a triple and scored a moment later on a passed ball. That run made Feller the losing pitcher and gave the Giants their first decision over the "Boy Wonder" in two seasons.

Feller now has worked 12 innings in exhibition games this season. He has allowed only six hits and one run.

Johnny Allen followed Feller to the box and was nicked for four runs in the fifth. Joe Heving pitched the eighth and allowed another marker.

Obtain Three Hits.

The Indians secured only three hits off Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher. The first two men to face Hubbell in the opening round singled and then the Tribe did not get another safety until the eighth.

Tie Looms In B League

The Class B Church league championship race will be concluded at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night, but it is doubtful whether the championship will be determined then.

Two teams, First Lutheran and Park Avenue Baptist, are tied for first place, and unless one loses Tuesday, the title race will end in a tie. Lutheran meets St. John's at 8.15, and Baptist tackles B'Nai Jacob at 8.

In the other games, Central M. E. meets South Main at 7 p. m., First M. E. meets Mayflower at 7.15, and First Presbyterian meets First Christian at 9:00.

MICHIGAN AGAIN TOO TOUGH FOR BUCKS

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Heartbroken but not discouraged, the Ohio State university swimming team tried today to forget its one-point defeat by Michigan in the national collegiates at Rutgers university and started training for the AAU championships to be held here April 8 and 9. Michigan scored 46 points at Rutgers to the Bucks' 45. It was Michigan's fifth consecutive win.

GREENSBORO, N. C. — (AP) — Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., were three strokes in the lead at the half-way mark in the Greensboro open golf tournament today.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS CLOSE BOWLING TOURNEY

FREMONT—(AP)—Ohio Knights of Columbus concluded their state tournament here and championships were held today by the following: Singles and all events, Mike Vellotta, Cleveland, scoring 683 and 1,956; doubles, Vellotta and C. Wintersteller, Cleveland, 1,259; five-men team, Canton Pure Milks, 3,189.

LOUIS, RECOVERING FROM COLD, RESTS TODAY

CHICAGO—(INS)—Champion Joe Louis, apparently recovered from a cold which bothered him Saturday, rested today while Harry Thomas, the Minnesota mauler who will face him in a title bout here Friday, continued workouts.

The schedule calls for a day off tomorrow, when the challenger will travel to nearby Lagrange to be the guest of honor at a luncheon. Both fighters will do their final tuning up on Wednesday and Thursday.

Willis and Darby of Montpelier stepped into the doubles lead with a 1120 count, and the former also held first place in the singles with a 604.

Fans Are For Myers Again

TAMPA, Fla.—(U.P.)— Late last season when the Cincinnati Reds floundered in the National league cellar, followers of the club gave Shortstop Billy Myers an unmerciful "ride."

Myers, in disgust, threatened to quit baseball unless he was traded by the Reds. A winter's lull made Myers change his mind on his ultimatum and today he again was back in the good graces of rabid Redleg followers.

Myers gave a sterling all-around exhibition here yesterday as Cincinnati trounced the Detroit Tigers 15 to 7 in an exhibition game.

The speedy shortstop secured three hits in four times to the plate. Two of his safeties were home runs and the third a double. The lusty wallops drove in seven Cincinnati runs. In addition to his hitting Myers turned in a brilliant defensive exhibition.

SUFFERS CHIPPED BONE IN PITCHING ARM

LAKELAND, Fla.—(AP)—Tommy Bridges is the Detroit Tigers' latest concern. An x-ray revealed the star right-hander chipped a bone in the elbow of his pitching arm last week. One club official said he might not be able to hurl before May 15.

Firing Ceases In Moose Tourney

Saginaw Duo Gains Share of Doubles Title to Account For Major Change In Standings.

FIRING in the third annual Moose national handicap bowling tournament at the Meder alleys ceased last night to climax a bombardment opened early this month.

All of the leaders of last week came through the final week-end of the tournament unscratched with one exception. The exception was the Jones and Reeder doubles combination of Columbus, which is forced to share the two-man championship with Remer and Erdman of Saginaw, Mich.

The Saginaw duo came through with a snappy 1362 total Sunday to gain a share of the two-man title.

Lead Not Threatened.

Many changes were made in the standings over the week-end, but the 3205 total shot by the Detroit, Mich., Mooseheart team a week ago was not touched, and Lustek of Lorain, O., and his 771 total were not threatened in the singles.

The all-events championship has not been determined, but D. D. Renner, tournament secretary, was doubtful whether the 2065 aggregate owned by Howard of Rockford, Ill., was beaten, despite a run of heavy scores over the week-end. Renner expected to complete the all-events check-up today.

Six new teams gained places among the first ten in the five-man division over the week-end, with Wooster rolling into second place with a 3179. Barberton No. 1 jumped into third place with a 3139. Delaware, Saginaw and Orrville rolled into the next three places.

Outside of Remer and Erdman, who tied for the title, only two changes were made in the doubles standing. Raines and Schaffer of Delaware gained second place with a 1343 count, and Johnson and Franks of Wooster moved into sexenth place with a 1306.

Three changes also marked the singles lineup, with Sonny Meder of Mansfield assuming third place with a brilliant 725, the best total unaided by a handicap shot in the tournament. Stindl of Massillon jumped behind Meder with a 718 and Remer of Saginaw moved into eighth place with a 704.

Ohio teams are well represented in the list of leaders, with Mansfield placing one among the first ten in each division.

In addition to Meder, the Mansfield No.4 team, which rolled a 3054, finished in eighth place and Leroy Cleckner and Pete Linster finished ninth in the doubles with a 1293 total.

Suffers Bad Breaks.

Meder was offered a splendid opportunity to win the singles championship Saturday. The 20-year-old star started off with a brilliant 266, and followed with a 258. Needing a 247 to gain the lead, he suffered a series of bad breaks in his last game to take a 201.

More than 100 teams from 10 states competed in the tournament, which was the most successful ever conducted by the fraternity.

Bidders for the 1939 tournament include Saginaw, Mich., Kokomo, Ind., and Aurora, Ill.

Toledo Team Gains Fourth Place in Five-Man.

CHICAGO—(INS—Another Sunday bombardment brought a shakeup among the A.B.C. leaders yesterday. Stan Rakel and Louis Felix, Cincinnati, blasted out a 1239 total to take second place in the doubles. Felix warmed up with 189, followed with 267 and coasted in with 211 for 667. Rakel started modestly with 166, caught his partner's spirit with 233 and clustered strikes for a 237 finisher to total 626.

Heny Liebold, Cleveland, whaled the pocket for a bulging 689 count and climbed into fourth in the singles. He opened with a sound 196, speeded up to 236 and then exploded 257, despite a No. 7 pin error in the last game.

Toledo shot into fourth place in the five-man event when the Unit-Cast corporation five blasted 3,012 on games of 928, 1047 and 1037. Sid Sherman, veteran campaigner, topped the squad with a 669 total, which included a 269 game.

STOCK BROKERS ENCOURAGED BY 'STEEL' SURVEY

Learn Demand for Metal Making Steady Advance From Magazine's Review.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Leading stocks reached feebly for a rally in today's market.

Buying strength was notably small and few issues were able to come back more than fractionally. Losers were plentiful near the second hour.

Many traders did little or nothing, apparently awaiting for the senate to vote on the administration's reorganization bill later in the day.

Foreign securities markets were uneven, with Paris weak in reflection of the republic's recent financial troubles. Bonds and commodities shifted over an indefinite range.

Brokerage quarters found a more hopeful note in the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said general demand for the metal was making a steady advance, with consumers in a wide variety of channels increasing commitments as inventories dwindle.

While the Review thought the failure of motor makers and railroads to take any considerable part of their ordinary tonnages was a severe handicap to the upward movement usual at this season, demand from manufacturers of stoves, refrigerators, air conditioning equipment and agricultural implements was seen as an important sustaining influence.

SHOWER SENATE WITH PROTESTS

Thousands Send Wires In New Fight to Defeat Government Reorganization Bill.

the office of comptroller general, and authorize the president to employ six administrative assistants.

Foes have asserted the bill would concentrate to much authority under the president.

The house, now debating the war department appropriation bill, has not considered the general reorganization program, although it approved some parts of it last year.

The next big senate dispute will be over the house-approved tax revision bill, which the finance committee is rewriting. Then will come the billion-dollar naval program.

The house will vote late this week on the senate resolution proposing a congressional investigation into the Tennessee Valley Authority. Approval is expected.

Reorganization Bill Explained In Brief.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Here, in tabloid form, is what the government reorganization bill would do:

1. Authorize the president to reduce, co-ordinate and re-organize the various executive agencies, with the exception of independent establishments such as the federal communications commission.

2. Abolish the bi-partisan civil service commission in favor of a single administrator, who would be authorized to develop, expand and revamp the merit system. The president also would be authorized to extend the civil service to cover 200,000 federal workers not now under the merit system.

3. Abolish the general accounting office and the post of comptroller general, transferring their functions to the director of the budget in the executive department. A system of post-audit would be established under an auditor general.

4. Create a department of welfare into which approximately a score of federal welfare agencies would be incorporated. The department's head would be a member of the president's cabinet.

5. Create six administrative assistants to the president, who is authorized to make rules and regulations for their co-operation with the various departments and agencies of government.

Donahey Says He'll Vote 'No'.

MARYSVILLE—(INS)—Constituents of Sen. Vic Donahey (D) Ohio had assurance today that he will vote against the president's reorganization bill unless it is materially changed.

In a letter to a group here, the Ohio senator said, "unless the federal government reorganization bill is very materially changed and reciprocal checks provided, I shall note against it. I shall vote 'no' on all magic legislation. Common sense is good medicine for government."

OKAYS $75,000 WOODLAND JOB

Council Takes 8 Minutes to Pass Water Measure at Special Session.

final legislation on the project at its regular meeting April 5 by approving a bond ordinance calling for the issuance of waterworks mortgage revenue bonds to the extent of $64,000, to be retired in eight years. This amount and a $10,000 appropriation from unappropriated funds in the water department will finance the city's share of the cost on the project.

Construction of the Cook road main, estimated at $10,000, will be started by WPA within the next few weeks. The $10,000 appropriation will be used for the purchase of the pipe on that part of the project.

Meanwhile contracts will be let for the construction of the tank tower and booster pumps at the reservoir, which is estimated at $20,000. Specifications call for a 150,000 gallon tank and two booster pumps electrically controlled, to pump 300 gallons per minute, along with various gates and valves.

The high capacity main to be laid on Lexington avenue, designed to strengthen pressure in mercantile area, will not be started for 60 or 90 days, until bonds have been sold.

The measure approved Saturday was identical with one except tion to the measure which was declared defeated by Council President Karl Troll the previous night. Instead of calling for the issuance of $65,000 in bonds against the city's $1,500,000 water system, the present ordinance approves the issuance of $64,000 in bonds.

This change in the measure, the only discussion on the legislation was explained by C. N. Shultz, chairman of council's water committee, who pointed out that although City Solicitor Marion D. Ward had contended that the emergency measure had passed the previous night with a vote of 6 to 1, with only seven members present, he had recommended resubmitting the bill on the grounds that the bonding companies, who request a transcript of the legislation, might question the procedure. The identical measure could not be submitted a second time, he said, and therefore the amount of bond to be issued was changed.

C. of C. Lauds Council.

Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce and C. L. VanDerau, chairman of the chamber's water development committee, who had strongly urged council the night before to "do something about the water problem," were present at the session and congratulated council for its action.

The chamber endorsed the Woodland project as part of a city-wide improvement last year and only a few months ago had called again on council to approve the project.

Agitation for the improvements to the water system was started two years ago after sub-zero weather had caused numerous breaks in the mains and crippled the city's water system.

HI-SPEED GAS 'SOLVENIZED'

Patented Formula, Blended With Motor Fuel, Chases Carbon Out of Motors.

One of the most amazing improvements in motor fuels announced in years is the scientific method of solvenizing gasoline, which is one of the many outstanding features of HI-SPEED EX-CARBON GAS. This scientific discovery was made by Dr. Carl F. Prutten of the Case School of Applied Science, one of America's leading institutions of mechanical engineering.

Seven years of exhaustive laboratory research resulted in the discovery of this "solvenized" formula which is blended with HI-SPEED EX-CARBON GAS so as to chase carbon out of internal combustion motors. The "solvenized" formula is covered by United States patents 1986645-51. By blending HI-SPEED EX-CARBON GAS with this scientific "solvenized" formula it causes the gas vapors when entering the combustion chamber to attack carbon deposits which accumulate on the piston rings, valves, spark plugs and other upper cylinder parts. HI-SPEED GAS STATIONS have the exclusive franchise for solvenizing gasoline in their entire marketing area.

Forces Carbon Out Exhaust Pipe.

The "solvenized" properties of HI-SPEED EX-CARBON GAS dissolves the gummy substance which causes carbon to accumulate on upper cylinder parts, and as the carbon becomes loosened it is blown out of the exhaust pipe. Laboratory tests have proved that by removing carbon from the motor it results in improved compression so that greater horse-power, pep and mileage are obtained.

Mr. Hartenfels, who is local distributor for HI-SPEED products in the Mansfield territory, cites the fact that this extra premium quality is obtainable in HI-SPEED EX-CARBON GAS at no increase in price. There are ten HI-SPEED Service Stations in the Mansfield territory which are operated by local citizens who are interested in the civic enterprise of this community.

HI-SPEED GASOLINE is produced by the largest independent oil company in this part of the United States. The Hickok Oil Corporation with headquarters at Toledo, Ohio, is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary this year. At the present time they have 1800 HI-SPEED Service Stations located in the principal cities of Ohio and Michigan. HI-SPEED products are sold to the motoring public with a money-back guarantee.

The two engineers were working behind the first engine, which had been taken several feet ahead of the train, when the engine suddenly coasted back, crushing Scott beneath it. The other trainman, E. P. Allison, 50, of Columbus, jumped off the track but suffered a fractured leg. He was taken to the Pomerene Memorial hospital at Millersburg.

In a lone Mansfield accident, Philip Rahall, 8, of 93 Orchard street, suffered a possible skull fracture about 8 p. m. Sunday when he was struck by an automobile on North Main street between the Erie and B. and O. tracks.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rahall, the boy was taken to General hospital where his condition was described as "fair."

Miss Florence Winkler, 58 Henry avenue, driver of the car which struck the boy, told police the youth ran in front of her automobile with a group of playmates. She was not held.

MEXICO HIT BY CESSATION OF SILVER BUYING

Mining Industry, Railroads to Suffer as U. S. Suspends White Metal Purchases.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The treasury reduced today from 45 to 44 cents per ounce its price for foreign-produced silver. The reduction was the first change in the treasury's price for foreign silver in nearly two years, and followed a break of slightly more than a cent in the London silver market today because of fears that the United States decision to discontinue purchases of Mexican silver might presage an abandonment of its stabilizing influence on world silver prices.

(By International News Service)

MEXICO CITY—Half of Mexico's national income, its great mining industry, its railroads—every phase of the country's activities—were affected today by the decision of the American treasury to cease purchases of silver on April 1.

Washington's action threw the country into a grave financial plight; almost a panic.

Everywhere it was regarded as a measure of reprisal against Mexico's expropriation of the $500,000,000 American-British petroleum industry.

Proposes Repayment.

Still the step may save American investments in the mining industry. President Larazo Cardenas, who signed the oil confiscation decree, looked to a world market for Mexican silver, yet at the same time he hoped to win back the good feeling of the United States by floating a bond issue of 100,000,000 pecos to pay off the oil companies.

Curtailment of silver production will be the immediate result of Washington's quitting the "white metal" market, and some Mexican mining concerns may be forced to the wall.

Thousands will be put out of work in the mines as the consequence of a chain of events set into operation by the demands of oil workers for higher wages which the petroleum companies said they could not pay.

Leading Silver Producer.

Mexico, the world's chief producer of silver, put out 88,000,000 fine ounces in 1937, and the United States took five-sixths of that amount. The United States was second in production, yielding 70,500,000 ounces.

Ambassador Francisco Cehtillo Najera reported the decision of Washington — described as the worst American blow to Mexico since World war days—to President Cardenas. The president at once issued this manifesto to the Mexican nation:

"The government of the United States has announced that purchases of the silver production of Mexico will be cancelled from the first of April.

"We desire that the nation know this, judging it justly and with serenity . . . we are prepared to avoid the injurious effects of that decision on our economy.

"Producers of 'white metal' must co-operate with the government so that our output may be placed on the world market."

The foreign exchange market will be watched closely today to see what effect Washington's silver non-purchase plan will have on the peso.

Last week the peso dropped sharply, and over the week-end it was quoted at from 4.15 to 4.20 to the dollar.

Ambassador Josephus S. Daniels had no comment. At the embassy it was stated that termination of silver purchases came as a surprise to him.

The planes were at a plant where holes were found to have been drilled recently in tanks of two other bombers.

KNIGHTS JOIN IN OBSERVANCE

Nearly 100 Knights of Columbus joined yesterday in commemorating the 56th anniversary of the founding of their order by attending services in a body at St. Peter's Catholic church.

Following the service, the knights held a breakfast at the K. of C. home at which Ray H. Bernert of Steubenville, state deputy, and the Rev. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's church, were the speakers.

Yesterday afternoon the Mansfield degree team aided Bernert in initiating a class of Mt. Vernon, Danville and Mansfield candidates at Mt. Vernon.

COL. HOUSE OF WAR FAME DIES

Oct. 17, 1918, he was designated to act for the United States in the negotiation of an armistice with the Central Powers.

Colonel House has been in semi-retirement in recent years.

Colonel House had been in poor health for more than a year, but he was strong enough Saturday to make a drive. Yesterday he remarked that he felt ill, and at midnight he began to sink.

In accord with Colonel House's wishes, the funeral will be private. The body will be taken to his birthplace at Houston, where burial will be in the family plot.

Colonel House was first reported seriously ill of pleurisy on March 4 by Dr. Paul B. Sheldon, his personal physician. Since then he had been confined to his home, where he died.

Still keen and observant despite his declining years, Colonel House in one of his last interviews asserted flatly that President Roosevelt would not be a candidate for a third term.

The aged peace-maker also said America's best chance of remaining out of any future world conflict lay in a strong merchant marine and a powerful navy.

He was the last survivor of the American signatories of the treaty of Versailles.

The so-called "little grey man from Texas" always treasured the memory of his friendship with Wilson. He never could understand the sudden schism that disrupted their comradship through the war years, and spoke of it as a "tragic mystery."

"My separation from Woodrow Wilson," he wrote, "is a mystery that now can never be dispelled, for it lies buried with him."

Regular playground activities at the settlement will not begin for some time, however, Gimbel said. Beginning tonight the children will be able to play kittenball, marbles and other outdoor games.

Playground equipment including swings, merry-go-round, slide and teeter-totters, will be installed on the ground next week.

UTILITY ACT'S FOES DEFEATED

registration provision in itself constituted a valid regulation inasmuch as it would throw valuable publicity on intricate financial dealings and corporate structures of holding companies.

Attorneys, however, charged that the government, by confining the case to the registration clause, was evading the issue of the act's basic constitutionality. They denied that the registration clause in itself was a valid regulation.

The case was argued orally before the high court on Feb. 7, 8 and 9. Bearing the brunt of the government's case was Robert H. Jackson, then assistant attorney general and now solicitor general. He was supported by Benjamin V. Cohen, special assistant to the attorney general who is credited generally with having drawn up the original act in conjunction with Thomas G. Corcoran, White House confidante and special assistant attorney general. Cohen and Corcoran both played an active part in the government's defense of the act throughout the litigation.

SEEK QUARTERS FOR ATHLETES

Relays Housing Committee Plans for Accommodating Visiting Tracksters.

Preliminary plans for the housing of some 400 visiting high school athletes who will take part in the Mansfield Relays here April 23, were discussed at a meeting of the Relays housing committee Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A.

Members of the committee are Mrs. E. M. Olin, Mrs. J. B. Weigel and Ralph B. Chapman, chairman. It will be the task of the committee to find lodging for at least 400 athletes from distant schools who will arrive in Mansfield the day before the relays are run.

The committee will solicit private homes for lodging for as many of the boys as possible, Chapman said. Those who can not be taken care of in that manner will probably be lodged in the high school gymnasium or at the "Y", he said.

Additional members will be named to the committee this week, and a meeting will be held later in the week. Members of the Hi-Y clubs in the city will assist the committee, transporting the athletes from the high school, where they will register, to the homes to which they have been assigned.

Persons having room for one or more of the students are asked to contact one of the three committee members.

2 Clues Spur Hunt For Torture Bandits In $94,000 N. Y. Theft

(By International News Service)

WOODMERE, N. Y.—A blue sedan and a New York night club address today provided police with clues to the identity of four bandits who bound and tortured Charles Milgrim wealthy Manhattan couturier, in his home here and escaped with loot of $94,000.

Jewelry valued at $93,000, including a $50,000 diamond ring, and $1,700 in cash were taken in one of the largest recent house robberies in this exclusive Long Island section when the thugs invaded the Milgrim mansion with drawn revolvers.

Surprising John Waller, 32, Negro houseman, as he prepared breakfast for the sleeping family, the men forced him to lead them to the master bedroom where they bound Milgrim and his fashionable wife, Sally.

"Where's the big ring?" one of them demanded after ransacking the place. When neither victim answered Milgrim was floored by a blow to the jaw and then was tortured by a lighted cigarette held against a bare instep until he cried out:

"Sally, for God's sake, tell them where the ring is!"

It was this 18-carat diamond ring, found in a glove on Mrs. Milgrim's dressing table, whose gleam, police believe, led the four bandits to the Milgrim home. The ring, they declared, had attracted the attention of a "spotter" at the night club where the Milgrims had entertained until early Sunday morning.

Acting on the "spotter's" tip, the thugs apparently drove to the home in a blue sedan, police theorize, which was seen outside the residence during the robbery.

INDICTS 15 OHIO FUEL OFFICIALS

Franklin County Grand Jury Charges Perjury, Obtaining Money Illegally.

Other Charges.

Obtaining money under false pretenses—all of those named in previous counts and C. I. Weaver, Springfield, president of Ohio Fuel Gas; Paul S. Clapp, Columbus, vice president of Columbia Gas & Electric, and E. D. Davis, Columbus, treasurer of Ohio Fuel Gas.

Perjury — Seyffert, Bivens, Kerr, Cross, Weaver and Tharp.

The indictment referred to a bill for $693.70 presented to the city of Columbus on Feb. 18, 1930, for 1,155,000 cubic feet of natural gas used at the Columbus airport from Jan. 13 to Feb. 12 of that year. The indictment alleged this was a 10 per cent overcharge.

It charged that this was done "by means of wilfully and corruptly adultering, cutting and diluting the natural gas supply" with intent to "defraud consumers by a systematic, perisistent and continuous injection of a product of the combustion of natural gas in air, which was wholly lacking in heat value."

The indictment charged that the defendants knew that this "flue" gas was not natural gas.

GIRL QUIZZED

Questioned by Police Probing Passing of Bogus Checks.

A 19-year-old Butler, Pa., girl was held for investigation by police today in connection with the passing of several bogus checks here in the past four months.

Detectives said that although she denied any connection with the checks, one clerk at a downtown department store had identified her as the person who had tendered a forged check for merchandise several months ago.

The girl was arrested while in company with a magazine sales crew for which she has been working for the past two months. She did however admit, the officers said, that she had been in Mansfield on at least one occasion previous to her latest visit here.

Fourteen members of the sales crew were questioned by Police Chief Meade K. Bates, late Saturday night, but all were released.

BRITISH-ITALO TREATY TAKES DEFINITE FORM

London Hears Pact Will Be Signed Before Hitler Pays Visit to Mussolini.

(By United Press)

LONDON—(UP)—The new British-Italian pact is now taking definite shape, it was understood today, and is likely to be signed formally before Adolf Hitler visits Benito Mussolini early in May.

In event that the treaty is initiate it is at present uncertain how many points embodied in the whole agreement will be included in the pact as published, and how many will have the nature of private undertakings between the two governments.

According to a most responsible source the features of the agreement as now envisaged are:

1—Reaffirmation of the British-Italian "gentlemen's agreement" of January, 1937, recognizing the present status in the Mediterranean.

2—A formula by which Britain is still trying to link recognition with League of Nations endorsement.

Puts Aside Naval Issue.

3—Italy regardless of contrary reports has dropped any thought she may have entertained of seeking naval parity with Britain in the Mediterranean and has abstained from pressing the issue of naval ratios.

4—Italy undertakes to reduce her garrison in Libya, unofficially estimated at from between 80,000 to 100,000 men. Britain attaches small importance to this feature as the troops could be sent over again on short notice.

5—In deference to Mussolini it is intended that Britain shall reaffirm certain clauses of the 1888 Suez canal agreement regarding freedom of transit.

6—Mutual agreement to ban construction of fortifications along the eastern shores of the Red sea.

7—Britain asks a formal pledge by Mussolini to abstain from raising a native army in Ethiopia.

8—(Presumably by private agreement) — Britain and Italy undertake to determine grazing rights along the Ethiopian frontier and to delimit Ethiopia's boundaries and Kenya and the Sudan. Britain also expects safeguards for continued access to the waters of Lake Tana, essential to Sudan cotton plantations.

9—Both nations to give assurance to stop hostile, subversive propaganda in the near middle east and elsewhere.

It was believed that the agreement also would touch the future of Palestine, and that instructions which G. W. Rendle, British foreign office near eastern expert, was to submit to Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano at Rome today contained observations on Palestine and the eastern Mediterranean generally.

MAPS LAST PLEA TO KIDNAPERS

Levine to Ask Some Token to Make Sure Son Lives.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—(INS)—A final plea to the kidnapers of 12-year-old Peter Levine was being considered today by the boy's father, Murray Levine.

Levine, Manhattan attorney, disclosed he is considering making the final appeal to the kidnapers through the newspapers and asking the kidnapers of his son for some token or assurance that his boy is alive.

A Farmer's Diary

March 27.

YESTERDAY I traveled over the hilly, 3-C highway, north to Loudonville. The air was cool and the wind was high, but the tender touch of spring was written over the face of everything.

The wheat fields on hillsides and in valleys lay cloaked in velvet green, asleep in the sun; the peach buds, beneath their bracks, flaunted tinges of pink and red; the shrubs on every hand waved branches clothed with tiny growth of leaves; the mullein by the roadside grew whorls of leaves so soft they felt like swansdown. I heard the songs of meadowlark, peewee, bluebird, and killdee. I saw a buzzard, high above the hills, sail lazily about in circles.

But all along, where forests stood, and sometimes in open fields, I saw the ghostlike trunks of chestnut trees with shedding bark. Spring cannot waken these.

I saw two giants of the past, close by the road, and stopped to look more closely. Each was three feet and more across the stump, but the upper part was bare, the smaller branches even fallen in decay. Some sprouts had grown from a living root, six feet high, last summer—but now they, too, are dead.

Fifteen years ago I picked nuts beneath these rugged trees, saw the tops filled with opening burs, and knew the pleasure children found hunting among the frosted leaves for buried treasure.

The children of some future day will never know, and can vision less, that our hillsides, bare and wasted, were once peopled with such lovely forests. Can science save us from this loss? —By C. A. B.

JAPS CLOSER TO DICTATOR FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Session of Japanese Diet Boosts Totalitarianism, Says Foreign Expert.

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Writer)

NEW YORK—The session of the Japanese Diet just ended has greatly strengthened totalitarianism, that is, brought the country closer into line with dictatorial governments such as exist in Italy and Germany — both allies of Japan, incidentally.

This means that the dominant military party, which pursues territorial expansion by force described by critics as feudal-minded, has been having a good run in the legislature.

It means that the Democratic anti-militarist group in the Diet has sustained a decided set-back, at least temporarily, after having made fair progress. This group opposes wars of conquest and has fought the militarists' policy in China.

The session was a bitter but unequal battle between the cabinet (that is, the government) and its opponents. The government proposed 86 bills and jammed through all but ten.

Gets Utility Powers.

The final act passed after violent debate involving a small riot was one transferring control of Japan's vast electric industry from private hands to the state. The army insisted on this as a war measure.

Another bill gives the government unlimited authority to draft the country's man-power and economic resources in war emergency.

Approval of these great military assists was preceded by adoption of the regular budget of $833,000,000, half of which is for military purposes, and a supplementary budget of some $1,400,000,000 for the war in China.

There has been a very considerable public outcry against the increased cost of living. The latest commodity price index shows another sharp rise in all essential commodities.

However, despite this difficult position, and although the nation's financial and material resources have been strained, the war goes briskly forward with the recorded approval of a majority of the legislature. And Premier Prince Konoye says he is "unable to state the limit to which operations will be carried or when we will be able to call a halt."

The Japanese people as a whole thus far have stood with the army-dominated government's policy of expansion in China.

SENDS ARMIES INTO CATALONIA

Labor union leaders appealed to their members to go to the front and build new defenses in Nationalists path.

Women's organizations, in a manifesto, called on all-able bodied men to go to the front and "halt those who are cowardly enough to give way before the claws of the Germans, Italians and Moors."

"Women and children will operate industry if the men go," said the manifesto. "We ask the men to halt the advance directed by the hangmen of Europe. Catalans can lead our cause to victory."

The government newspaper organ La Vanguardia in an editorial, quoted rumors that France was prepared to seek a union with Catalonia, and assume control of Minorca island in the Balearics group and of Spanish Morocco as part of a deal with the Nationalists.

"This is part of a rebel plan to demoralize the Loyalist population," said the newspaper.

Reports from the front asserted that the Nationalists had been checked half a mile outside the village of Fraga, on the Catalonian frontier. Farther north, it was said, there was ferocious fighting with the Nationalists attacking on all sectors.

The Loyalists asserted that Nationalist airplanes destroyed the village of Rosels near Tarragona with unknown casualties.

Insurgents to Ease Bombing Attacks.

LONDON—(INS)—Spanish insurgent forces in the future will bomb towns and cities only when military necessity leaves no alternative, Generalissimo Francisco Franco assured the British government today.

Replying to Britain's protest over the recent aerial bombardment of Barcelona, Franco declared this was justified because Barcelona is "the site of important military objectives."

Expressing regret over the "loss of innocent lives" Franco promised every effort would be made in the future to restrict aerial activity over open towns.

The four parents sat in a row, their heads bowed while a minister read from the Bible. There was no music and no eulogy. They went together to the crematory. Carroll's eyes were wet, but not until he saw his daughter's body consigned to the flames, did Matthiesen, a former soldier who retains a soldiery bearing, display his grief. A sob escaped but it was choked quickly and he was as rigid and as dry-eyed as before.

Donald passed the time of Charlotte's funeral staring at her photograph which attendants at Queens county jail had permitted him to keep. They reported that he seemed to be recovering from his violent grief and was much more calm. He has been indicted on a charge of first degree murder, but no trial date has been set.

Let's Get the Answer.

RIGHT after the German dirigible Hindenburg exploded and burned, there was considerable sentiment in this country that Uncle Sam ought to permit exportation of non-inflammable helium, obtainable only in United States, to Germany to prevent recurrence of such a disaster.

After some little time, the government agreed to sell helium to Germany for use in commercial lighter-than-air ships. The shipment was to go forward recently, but it has been held up, and it probably would be as easy to develop sentiment against exporting any as it was to develop a feeling for it right after the Hindenburg disaster.

Germany is building another huge Zeppelin, which will use 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Her order, however, was for three times that amount.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes holds up the shipment. He wants to know why Germany wants so much more gas than it actually needs. He also wants definite assurance that American helium will not be used for military purposes.

Both are pertinent points, and there is no reason why the helium shipment shouldn't be held up until both have been cleared up.

But no matter what the German reply, is anyone going to believe that Germany would worry about such promises if it came to a point where she needed the helium badly for military purposes? Haven't we heard something, some time, about "a scrap of paper"? How could United States see to it that its helium wasn't put to military use? Who can differentiate, in time of war, just what is military and what is commercial? They're pretty nearly inseparable.

He Lacked Courage.

THE case of Everett Jones, who went to his death in Ohio's electric chair last week is a strange one. In a long, prepared last statement, he said he was a "product of Ohio's prisons" and laid the blame for his career of crime, which brought him to his death for murder, on cruel treatment at the hands of other prisoners, and on prison authorities.

But when he was sentenced to the chair, he was quoted as saying that he was willing to die, because he "hadn't the courage to live decently."

It would seem that there was more truth in the latter statement than in the one he made a few minutes before his death.

Jones had ability that would have permitted him to make his way in the world honestly, as most of us do. His trouble was his lack of courage to undertake it, rather than the treatment he received at the reform school, in the reformatory and in prison.

He thought he'd have done better if his mother hadn't died when he was a child and if his father had been a "pal".

No one, of course, begrudges him his wish for a mother, or an understanding father—but thousands of people live honest and successful lives with the same handicaps Jones had in that respect.

They have the courage—he hadn't.

Fleas' Diet.

EXPERIMENTS in Brown University are said to show that water fleas live nearly twice as long as usual if they have limited rations when young.

Eating all they wanted to in this laboratory experiment, the fleas lived 29 days. Half-starved when young and then given a normal diet, they lived in vigor and full possession of their powers for 42 to 51 days. When the process was reversed, and they were fed heavily when young and then put on limited rations in maturity, their lives were shortened.

There is a natural temptation to apply this regimen to men. The professors say the results "may point to longer life in man." But that wouldn't necessarily follow. It's risky to experiment with human life, and people are worth more than fleas, and adequate experimentation in the human field might take a hundred years.

The tendency lately has been to feed children more food, of better quality, rather than the opposite, and school pupils seem to gain in strength, weight and mentality with such feeding.

It may be questioned, though, whether such children will live longer on the average. Many people who suffered apparent privation when young seem to reach a vigorous old age.

Perhaps the quality of the food is more important than the quantity. Possibly a little food with the proper vitamins is better than much food without them.

"Cold Shoulder" for Nazis

IT appears that Adolf Hitler is annoyed by the behavior of President-dictator Vargas of Brazil. Vargas banned all political parties when he inaugurated his one-man government, and included Nazi political activities within the ban. To the chagrin of admirers in Berlin he has failed to suppress anti-Nazi measures in outlying Brazilian states.

He has been thus remiss in spite of the fact that Germans in southern Brazil claim to have been so noble as to refrain from meddling with domestic affairs and "have merely claimed their natural legal right to advance their racial culture and build up their organization unhindered." It is hinted in Germany that Hitler may seek to "compel better treatment" of Nazis in Brazil.

Unless the Nazi organization itself is successful in boring from within, neither Vargas nor Brazil need fear Hitler. It is not possible yet for him to overwhelm and terrorize any country on this side of the Atlantic as he did Austria. The awesome tanks and guns and motorized army and huge police force that rolled and marched so swiftly into Austria can't make a similar dramatic entrance into Brazil. A mighty ocean intervenes.

It's probably a good time to invest in American securities, but don't buy any European bonds.

That pogrom in Vienna takes the edge off many Austrians' joy at being "liberated from their freedom."

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

Saturday, in this column, the conversation of an earnest man was recorded. This man feared that the flattery (as he put it) of England would draw the United States into the European malestrom—again to save democracy.

There is no question that England is pressed, and that France is pressed—and even that Italy is pressed. And the Soviet Union is not sure of itself—or anyone else. And the plight of the smaller countries can be imagined. For a new Napopeon is marching across Europe.

And marching with Hitler is a new religion, anti-church and anti-democracy, defying the state, discarding individual liberty.

Whether this movement will involve the United States depends largely on our economic condition. We have bred minor demagogues with less depression than we now have.

England is less subject to such wiles.

England produces more subtle wiles—the wiles of a great trading nation, of a nation possessed of wealth from the seven seas. It was England who brought Napoleon to his Waterloo; it will be England who finally will bring Hitler to his Waterloo.

For dictators finally overreach—and an England seldom does; nor a France, for that matter.

THE CALL TO US

But the question put forth by our earnest friend seemed to imply that England always succeeded in making her side the moral side, the side that an honorable nation inevitably would have to take, fighting.

It was Prussia who aided England to overthrow Napoleon. It was the United States who aided England and France to stop Germany—and set up the Versailles treaty, which bred the dictators.

And, at the moment, there is a tremendous amount of propaganda to the effect that if we do not side with Britain and France, in Europe and Asia, democracy will disappear from the face of the earth.

And as the horror tales appear day after day, and our heart leaps out to the unfortunate, we begin to believe again that perhaps we are the true saviors of democracy. It is a highly emotional feeling that can be intensified with the slightest incidents. It is pregnant with danger.

STOPPING MOVEMENTS

In our own country we try repressive measures to stop movements. There is no surer method—in the end—to cause a movement to grow. Furthermore, if a movement is part of a fundamental evolution, only tragedy can result from trying to stop it.

But if a movement is permitted to go on, and prove itself to be mere wind, then it will collapse of its own accord.

There is a great deal of wind in Mazism and Fascism.

Declare war on it, and you will solidify it for years to come. Weak movements live as long as their progenitors can point to something against which there must be a "defense."

BREAKUP NEAR

Already we see a breakup ahead for the Rome-Berlin axis.

The Nazi giant has come to the borders of Fascist Italy. One doubts that there was an agreement as to this. Italians would not tolerate even a dictator who agreed to that.

The Teutons have been feared for centuries by the Italians.

Now they are allies—in the invasion of Spain. Hitler has been shrewd in that. He apparently has accepted the Mussolini view, which, has attracted a large following, that the invasion is to save Spain from bolshevism and atheism. (This is no discussion of that.) But when Spain is conquered, what is likely to prevail? Nazism — which is distinctly anti-church.

Hitler is adament in the Nazification of any country he takes over or even penetrates.

And Mussolini will have to concur in Spain—and the conquered Spaniards, their country a mass of ruins—will have to submit. For Germany has the military might to subjugate and, if Hitler's "My Battle" is to be followed to the letter (as it has been to the present,) Germany WILL subjugate. It will try to claim everything up to the borders of the Soviet Union, and Nazify it completely.

It is even questionable whether Mussolini himself will be able to stand up against this daemonic spirit in the end. Mussolini, even now, is edging closer and closer to England. The World war alignment once more is taking shape.

No wonder our friend spoke as he did. We'll soon be hearing what our "duty" to humanity is.

CZECH AND DOUBLE CHECK!

Foreign Cables Hum, Domestic News Ignored

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — When a major war is raging or a first class catastrophe has just occurred there is no news except news of that war or catastrophe. Events that in normal times would splash themselves all over our front pages are lucky to get a paragraph each. Readers disregard even these skimpy paragraphs.

Such a state of affairs has existed lately, due to the European crisis.

It seems to be subsiding temporarily now, following Lithuania's surrender to Poland, but it was a hum-dinger while at its maximum. It may re-intensify itself any day, however.

DOMESTIC ISSUES FADE

We had plenty of redhot local controversies pending while the old world fuse sizzled—the TVA fight, our railroad problem, governmental reorganization, John L. Lewis' demand for three billions for unemployment relief. This being a congressional election year, home politics should be the topic of vehement discussion.

None of those questions, nevertheless, could get much of a hearing with the issue constantly arising:

What of the transatlantic danger?

AND THE ORIENT!

The European commotion, indeed, drowned out talk of the Jap-Chinese disturbance.

Many strategists believe that, in the long run, Uncle Sam will find himself more gravely menaced in the Pacific than from the eastward. We have no distant possessions in the latter direction. In the Pacific ocean we have—especially if the Philippines elect to remain American. They show signs of doing so. If they do we scarcely can throw them overboard.

Still, Japan will not greatly worry us for some years to come. European complications are a matter, possibly, of tomorrow.

ATTENTION DIVERTED

Congress, when in session, ordinarily is the center of newspaper attraction in Washington.

Recently the foreign embassies and legations have been the news nuclei. What is their latest impending-war information from abroad? Diplomats are not as communicative as our own legislators, but they are besieged with questions.

And of course the state department (our foreign relations ministry) is worked overtime.

But congress has been able to get itself seriously listened to only when absorbed with our navy bill — supposedly a defense program, intended not to involve us in but to keep us out of war. War (to keep out of, not to get into) is our theme anyway.

How it will work out, heaven knows.

GUESSING AT POLICIES

Russia's and Italy's respective policies are much speculated on.

Germany is no puzzle; Hitler is rated as definitely on the warpath.

Britain is assessed (to put it plainly) as afraid, and France, to say the least, as timid.

The little peoples do not count.

Russia, curiously enough, is classed as pacifist, but as unreliable because of the numerous evidences of its internal unrest.

Italy's good faith (to be candid again) is questioned.

Mussolini professes to be pro-Hitler. Yet the Italians, before the World war, were allies of Germany and Austria, but they finally fought on the other side. Can that kind of a country be gambled on?

A BREATHING SPELL?

Well, for the moment the European tension has been slightly modified by Lithuania's acquiescence in Poland's demands.

It is a breathing spell.

But Czechoslovakia remains as an acutely sore spot. German-Italian interests still clash.

A fresh rumpus may flare up any minute.

Heck is still to pay in the Far East.

OUR OWN PROBLEMS

In the meantime can we have a little peace to consider—

TVA, the railroads, governmental reorganization, unemployment, housing and our coming congressional primaries and re-election campaign, the Orient generally and the Philippines in particular.

ANTI-CLIMAX

The other night the radio put on a program suggesting "The March of Time."

"Bang! bang! bang!" went shots, indicating the suicide of anti-Nazi Austrians. Women's and children's screams were heard as aviators dropped bombs on Barcelona and Chinese cities. Dictators bellowed their declarations.

It was horrible.

Right after that followed an advertisement of a new kind of tooth paste.

How about an anti-climax?

Is Mother Love Greater Than Father Love?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

Is mother love greater than father love?

Wonder how many domestic massacres THAT Tear Bomb has caused. But here comes one of Tomorrow's Mothers, ready to start the rumpus all over again.

"Everyone knows that there is no earthly love so pure, so deep and selfless as a mother's," says ETHEL LILLIAN VANCE of PONCA CITY, OKLAHOMA.

"The agony of birth gives a mother far greater compassion and understanding than any father can ever know. A mother gives her time, her youth, her health, uncomplainingly.

"Fathers desert their children, turn them into the streets—but mothers, never! In the animal kingdom the father often devours his child! Fathers may love, but only in a secondary way. It is their nature to beget and forget. Mother love is greater because God made it so.

"Ethel Lillian Vance—24 years
"1317 South 4th St.
"Ponca City, Oklahoma"
$10.00 Prize.

That's a sweet and sincere letter, my dear, but as an honest woman — and a mother — I am bound to tell you that your theory is PURE PIFFLE. A mother's association with her child is naturally closer, BUT WHEN IT COMES TO LOVE, SERVICE AND SACRIFICE, MOTHERS AND FATHERS ARE ON A PAR.

The act of having a child is no more difficult or noble than the responsibility and anxiety of supporting that child thereafter. The service of a mother in a home is no more holy than that of a father in an office. And a father sacrifices his "time, health and youth" as surely as any mother.

As for the widespread belief that a woman somehow automatically acquires superior understanding and tenderness by the mere act of giving birth—no more mischievous notion was ever broadcast. It has alibied endless selfishness, stupidity, laziness and general cussedness.

Birth pangs never added an ounce to a woman's brains nor an inch to her soul. Mothers become good and wise, brave and kind, exactly as fathers do—by hard work, study and discipline. And each individual mother's love is only as great as the woman herself. While as for "devouring" offspring, no jungle beast ever consumed its young more viciously than many a selfish, sentimental mother.

Yet despite their mortal frailty both Mothers and Fathers rise to godlike heights of pure devotion. And that human is wretched, indeed, who does not worship at the shrine of some good Mother's or Father's love!

* * *

Now comes more unpopularity for Elsie. Sixteen-year-old MARGARET GLASS, CHICAGO, ILL., believes that A WOMAN WOULD MAKE A GOOD PRESIDENT FOR THESE UNITED STATES. And I don't!

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"One of the problems we have debated in school recently is: Would a woman make a good president? Would she be strong and courageous enough to carry out her convictions?

"I think she would. The women of today are fighters. They have had to get out into the world and earn their bread and butter. Women today are not the mollycoddles of yesterday.

"The president's chair is a big one. The modern girl has the brains to fill the chair. She has, besides brains, willpower. Wars would be unheard of things, for she would be a woman and perhaps a mother. She would know how to regulate the budget, for hasn't she been keeping the family budget for years? For prosperity I say, let's have a woman president!

"Margaret Glass—16 years
"8142 Burnham Ave.
"Chicago, Ill."
$10 prize.

I admit the modern woman has brains, my dear. But I doubt if she has enough BALANCE, in facing impersonal situations and handling far flung issues, to make a good president. She's still too personal . . . and too poor a sport when she's hurt or mad. But that's just my opinion. How about YOURS . . . and YOURS?

* * *

And speaking of sports, good or bad, here comes ISABEL McDONALD of LOS ANGELES, CALIF., with a letter that deserves a round of cheers:

"I'M TIRED, says Isabel, "OF BEING CALLED A 'WET BLANKET' or 'A POOR SPORT' AT PARTIES, SIMPLY BECAUSE I WON'T DRINK, SMOKE OR NECK LIKE THE REST.

"No, I'm not a reformer. The other fellow's conduct never bothers me. I don't lecture or sneer at his being so bored with life that he has to take to drink for thrills. I laugh with them all and hold up my share of the fun. But just because I won't indulge in what seems to me stupid and stereotyped conduct, I'm called 'a poor sport.'

"WHO'S THE POOR SPORT . . . THE ONE WHO GOOD-NATUREDLY INSISTS ON GOING HER OWN WAY . . . OR THE ONE WHO POUTS BECAUSE HE CAN'T HAVE HIS?

"Isabel McDonald—27 years
"4251 Monroe St.
"Los Angeles, Calif."
$5 prize.

Whoops for you, girl! It takes high grade courage to be true to yourself in this mass-movement age.

Let's Look Around

Miami Seeks Better Balance.

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

MIAMI, Fla.—"What's the matter with Miami," we were asked by a Miami newspaperman, during the course of a chat—just as if any Miamian would really believe that there might be anything the matter with this beautiful "magic city" so wonderfully located and so splendidly equipped to entertain the many thousands of people from other parts of the country who come here, for long or short stays, during the winter season.

Nor can one who is here for only a few days qualify as an expert in answering such a question—it would require study and more intimate knowledge of Miami, in its year-round activities, in its long-range planning and in the substantiality of its present financing to reach even a fairly accurate conclusion as to what—if anything—is the matter with Miami.

Viewed as a great amusement enterprise, intended to provide an abundance of the lighter side of life for the tens of thousands of visitors who tax the capacity of hundreds of hotels, apartment houses, furnished homes and rooming places in Miami and Miami Beach, there is nothing—absolutely nothing — the matter with Miami.

Looked at as we would be inclined to consider a normal, well-rounded city, in which a year is twelve months long—instead of six—an unbiased but friendly observer would probably find a number of things "the matter with Miami."

Principal among these would be the obvious lack of balance between production and consumption that is essential to justification for existence of any city.

For the millions of dollars that non-residents pour into its channels of trade each winter season Miami repays with salubrious climate, charming vistas, a wonderful beach, a wide variety of entertainment and a plethora of amusements.

In Miami—as in possibly no other city in the United States—the enterprise of the resident population is attuned to the idea of attracting money that has been earned elsewhere—and it may be doubted if there is another city in which surplus funds could be more delightfully or rapidly disposed of.

Now that Miami has grown so quickly and amazingly as a winter resort city—which makes it precariously dependent on the spending power of people from elsewhere—it appears to be justifiable to suggest that the next logical step would be to seek means of developing as a producer, instead of a mere consumer, of wealth.

There is more to life—and more to an American city—than play.

THAT the business leaders of Miami, as represented in an active and growing chamber of commerce, recognize such a condition and are taking steps to correct it, is evidenced by the emphasis placed on the fact that this city now has more than a hundred manufacturing plants of various kinds and that more are being sought.

Much is being made, for instance, of the recent decision of a large motion picture producing company to locate in Miami, with studios to be erected during the summer and production work to start next fall.

Miami's one-sidedness—in its dependence on seasonal transient trade—is evidenced by the marked differences in hotel rates and other housing accommodations at various times in the year. There is a general dropping of rates after the rush season, with many hotels closing entirely through the summer—thus making it necessary for the tourist season to carry the costs and produce profits for the entire year.

Another ten years can be expected to carry Miami past the "growing pains" that were aggravated by the distressing experiences of its early "boom" days and to produce the more substantial prosperity which its natural advantages, enterprise, enthusiasm and optimism merit.

OVER on Miami Beach two nationally known names stand out with unusual prominence this season—Bernarr MacFadden and Jack Dempsey—for each of these has become firmly established as catering, in an individual way, to the needs of this Florida community.

The luxurious Macfadden-Deauville hotel and its accoutrements serve to carry on the health-building ideas of the famous physical culturalist while the swankily equipped Dempsey-Vanderbilt hotel, with its ornate restaurant and bar, acts as a magnet for many admirers of Dempsey, who spends a considerable amount of time here during the season—having but recently returned to New York where he is interested in a similar enterprise.

SPEAKING of hotels, the past couple of years have witnessed such an orgy of hotel and apartment-house building in Miami Beach, and hereabouts, that some thoroughfares—Collins avenue in particular—have scores of such structures, one after another . . . apparently sufficient to meet all reasonable requirements for the next 25 years of community growth—to say nothing of the several pretentious hotel structures, in and around Miami, that were started a number of years ago and never completed.

* * *

OUT Coral Gables way there has been apparent substantial development within the past few years—with present selling prices seeming to reflect fairly normal values instead of the wildly exaggerated ideas prevalent back in the "boom" days. It is in Coral Gables that Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Ford have an attractive home. Here also Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Wilkinson are spending the winter.

Garden club members will be interested in knowing that purple bougainvillea has become the most popular of the colorful flowers in and around Miami at this season—being used in bush form or trained over arches and around entrance ways with charming effect. Hibiscus and oleander are also at the height of bloom this month.

* * *

MUCH curiosity has been expressed in regard to "the sausage tree", several of which are to be seen in this vicinity. One conveniently near is in the botanical garden of Burnham Wyman, out the Tamiami Trail at 35th avenue. Native of tropical Africa, the tree gets its name from the shape of its non-edible fruit which hangs from long, fibrous cord and has the appearance of a huge sausage, from 14 to 20 inches in length and 3 to 5 inches in diameter. These "sausages" hang on the tree for as much as a year, but have no known use.

Health Advice

Begin Habit Training Early.

—By DR. ROYAL COPELAND

Bed wetting is a bad habit, usually traced to negligence in the training of the young child. This is not always the case, and that is why a careful physical examination is important.

The child may be a victim of some disease of the urinary organs. This may lead to persistent bed wetting in spite of all efforts made to correct the habit. Local irritation in the genital region, rectal irritation and worms are other factors that must be considered among the possible causes. But if these conditions have been ruled out, it is safe to assume that the child is suffering from poor habit training.

A well-known baby specialist stated years ago that when a child suffers this way after he is two and a half years old, the fault lies at the door of the parents. This will be the case if the parents fail to realize the importance of habit training at an early age.

Too often it is believed that the child's difficulty is due to inheritance. The parents expect the child to outgrow the habit just as they did. But to trust to this notion is unwise.

A child should be taught the importance of going to the bathroom at definite intervals. The bladder must be completely empaied before retiring at night. I cannot overstate the advantages of awakening the child at periodic intervals during the night, so that the bladder may be emptied.

As a rule it is best to awaken the child every four hours. This period may be lengthened, perhaps to twice a night, possibly at 10 p. m., and six a. m., as soon as a good habit has been acquired. All stimulating and exciting play prior to bed time must be avoided. Restrict the fluids after four p. m. Make sure that the evening meal is a simple one, without spices and irritating foods.

DUFFY RULES ON SCHOOL LOANS

Holds Boards Not Allowed to Use Local Funds to Pay Off Foundation Notes.

Boards of education must use their own funds to pay interest on notes authorized by the state, but are not permitted to use local funds to pay off state foundation program notes to save interest, Atty. General Herbert S. Duffy had ruled today.

The ruling was handed down at the request of the Darke county prosecutor who said a rural board in his county wanted to pay a $1,000 note issued in anticipation of an allocation of state school money.

For several months the state department of education has authorized boards needing money to borrow against future cash allocations which have been held up because of lagging sales tax collections. When cash is available the state allocates money to retire the notes. Meanwhile, however, the local boards must pay interest out of their funds.

Dr. John H. Bristor, clerk of the Mansfield board, said the ruling would have no bearing on the financial picture here, since "the schools here never have any surplus funds to use in paying debts."

The Mansfield board now has $23,000 in notes outstanding against future allocations of foundation money, and Dr. Bristor added that more will have to be borrowed by the last of this week.

The board was authorized recently to borrow $45,000, with the money for retiring the notes to come "when the state can accumulate sufficient funds."

OKAYS GRANTS FOR 2 PROJECTS

WPA Allows $15,234 for Bellville Job and $27,000 for Home Assistance Work.

A WPA grant for $15,234 to finance the completion of the Bellville sewer project and $27,087 for home assistance work in the county had been approved today by federal WPA authorities in Washington, an Associated Press dispatch to The News-ournal said.

The Bellville project was suspended temporarily a week ago because of lack of funds, throwing approximately 130 men out of work. About two months will be required to finish the job, it was estimated. Total cost of the work is $80,000.

The village of Bellville, which has used $22,000 for materials on the project, is faced with the task of raising an additional $4,000 to finance its share of the cost.

The home assistance project, which is operated in connection with the relief office, provides counsel and care for indigent families in the county.

The Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

By DR. WILLARD L. SPERRY

Monday, March 28. "He . . . saw every man clearly." Read Mark 8:22-26.

Each one of us has to go through some such gradual process as this. Our selfish inclination is to see ourselves, and no one else. Our education compels us to become aware of human beings around us, but too much of our education is a business of identifying and disposing of other persons "as trees walking"— as general types and classes. Thus we talk about "the capitalist, the unemployed, the socialist, the bourgeois, the criminal, the proletariat, the intellectual, the Catholic, the Protestant." Such terms are crude mental filing devices. Human beings are more than cards in an index.

It is the business of religion—particularly of the Christian religion—to make us "see every man clearly." Christianity has more affinities with art than with science. Science deals with abstractions, art always deals with a single individual object. William Wordsworth habitually saw one thing,—the single tree, the lonely sheep, the solitary shepherd. Our modern Christianity, in its passion to become scientifically respectable, has almost forgotten how to be artistic. Therefore its God, like itself, is interested in types and classes, rather than individuals.

Prayer: Open thou our eyes, O Lord, that, being saved from the blindness of self-interest and from the half-sight of an imperfect knowledge, we may see our world and our fellows with perfect clarity: through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

CHAPTER XXIX

"Also," continued Pablo, suddenly switching to English. "I think now I must tell you something, although I must ask you to keep it a secret for the time being. I already have a man and a woman in jail in San Diego who were parties to the robberies of which Vasquez accused both Carmen and Dolores. I need one more arrest to clear the two girls. That man will be in Tijuana today or tomorrow, I am sure. When he is arrested, Vasquez's frame-up of the two girls will vanish. Then, when you recover Miss Castle . . . she will have no bad record to worry about."

Don Murray impulsively held out a hand to Pablo.

"That's great," he affirmed. "Great! But—you say you have two people in jail in San Diego. I don't quite understand."

"I," explained Pablo, grinning, "happen to be Christopher Drake, special border deputy sheriff of San Diego county."

Murray gazed at him with amazement.

"Chris Drake!" he exclaimed. "Well, you're darn good, Christopher Drake! You're darned good!"

"So it has sometimes been said," assented Chris Drake, modestly.

"And what do we do next?"

"This, I think. I have a hunch that Miss Castle is being held prisoner at Vasquez's own house, here in Tijuana. Vasquez is in town. He has been seen today. Gregorio is here, as we have seen. And a friend of mine happened to see a taxi drive away from Vasquez's house early this morning. Of course, she may not be there; but it seems to me a good bet that she is."

"Then let us find the others and go get her," suggested Murray.

"Too dangerous," dissented Chris Drake. "Miss Castle might suffer. No, we have to use our heads. Vasquez has had bad luck recently, but he isn't half licked yet. And we don't know who, in this town, is with him. No; we've got to use our heads. There's no great rush. I want to scout around a bit. I'll meet you in an hour at the Cafe Guadalajara."

He slouched away again, the typical worthless, tequila-drinking, marahuana cigarette smoking Mexican of Tijuana's back alleys.

A moment later Murray was joined by Jose, who drew him into a secluded doorway.

"You know w'at I theenk?" he asked. "I tell you w'at I theenk. I theenk Mees Castle she ees right here in Tijuana."

"What makes you think that, Jose?" asked Murray.

"I'll tell you, Don Murray," replied the faithful Mexican. "In thees leetle town everything she ees talked about by everybody. Eef I scratch my cabeza—my head—pret' damn queek somebode she say to somebodee else, 'I see that hombre Jose scratcheeng hees head in front of thee Kentuckee Bar.' And right away that hombre tells two other hombres w'at he has heard. And pret' damn queek everybodes in Tijuana knows I scratch my head. You see, Don Murray?"

"I can see that, Murray grinned. "And also that you have heard something."

"You betcha I hear sometheeng," assented Jose, rolling a brown paper cigarette with fingers the same color as the paper. He lighted it, inhaled.

MANSFIELD STUDENTS WIN MUSIC CONTESTS

Anne Jeannette Klinger, Betty Axtell, Betty Shirey, Margaret Berry, Joseph Pival, Gale Shriner Place First.

EVERY Mansfield entrant in the contests sponsored by the the National Junior Music Study clubs at Dayton Friday and Saturday placed. Participants from both the Junior Music Study club and the Crescendo club were registered at the convention which was attended by 500 young music club members and their parents and friends from all over the state.

In the duo-piano class Anne Jeannette Klinger and Betty Axtell received first place as did Betty Shirey and Margaret Berry in two of the violin classes. Another first place was taken by Margaret Berry, Betty Shirey, Joseph Pival and Gale Shriner, violin quartet, accompanied by Elaine Marlow.

Mary Berry won a second place in violin and Joseph Pival tied for first. Betty Austin was placed third in the high school soprano competition. Janet Baughman, piano, who competed in the largest group, which consisted of 26, was awarded a fourth place.

The contests and convention this year honored Mrs. R. A. Herbruck, Dayton, state senior president. The next convention will be held in Cleveland. Mrs. E. D. Gibson, district counselor, was in charge of the violin contests.

The Mansfield club members are students of Edith Fletcher Jamison, Marie Porterfield and Eugene Weinberger.

In addition to the contests the convention included a dinner meeting for guests at which Miss Etelka Evans, national junior counselor, spoke, a luncheon following the contests and several get-togethers for the club members.

White Has Many Uses In Modern Decoration

White, which is all colors or no color as you like, is still one of the most modern notes in decoration, says House Beautiful. At no time in the past has it been considered proper to use as the dominant theme in rooms. It is curiously tricky. In the first place, it falls into innumerable shades, creamy, bluish. The texture of walls and fabrics will give it overtones which throw it into specific categories. You must have a sure eye to work with it.

If you make a successful white room you have achieved a work of art. It is needless to say that white needs accent colors. These should bear a strong basic relationship to one another to strengthen the white and rob it of monotony. It is probably prudent to restrict the white in your room to an incidental place, in the background of prints, pictures, mats, and accessories such as flower pots, cigaret boxes, ashtrays and individual rugs.

JOIN IN EVENT

300 at Greeks' 117th Anniversary Celebration.

More than 300 Mansfield Greeks celebrated the 117th anniversary of Greek independence yesterday at services at the Greek Orthodox church and at a benefit show at the Eagles hall in the evening.

The show was presented by students of the Greek school, commemorating the anniversary, and included a play, "Heroes of Alamana," written and directed by Rev. Janos Gougoutos, pastor of the Greek church. Dances and songs in the Greek language were presented by 25 children.

The principal speaker during the evening was Rev. Gougoutos, newly appointed minister of the Greek church who came here recently from Greece. Rev. Gougoutos traced the history of Greek independence from its origin in 1821 when Greece was liberated from Turkish oppression.

Visitors from Marion, Shelby, Ashland, Mt. Vernon, Bucyrus, and Norwalk attended the show.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Recommendation Letter Must Be Truthful, Brief

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

Look for the best in a person—when you're writing a letter of recommendation for him.

Remember, the job may depend on what you write.

Analyze the person about whom you are writing and say as many favorable things as you can. If you can't cite virtues, don't point out the fact that they're missing and then bend over backward trying to find excuses.

Short And To The Point.

And make your letter short but to the point.

Most employers want to check on these six qualities in applicants: honesty, sobriety, capability intelligence, initiative and the ability to work.

Many also want to know why a prospective employe left his last job. If cutting down the staff, for instance, was the cause of dismissal—and not a weakness in character or ability—be sure to make that plain. Otherwise your omission will be taken as deliberate.

Don't Be Prejudiced.

If you know the type of job the applicant is after, play up traits the applicant has that would fit him for that job.

Don't let prejudice enter your appraisal. Somone who is personally disliked by you and your associates may enter another group and feel much more at home. Remember, especially, that lots of inexperienced people are not stable until they've held several jobs and lost them. Then they suddenly settle into a niche where they do excellent work.

Your name never should be used as a reference without your permission. But once you give your permission and receive a request for a letter of recommendation, be as prompt in answering as you can. For jobs often are filled within a few days, even hours.

Miller Calls On Youth to Make Own Opportunity

Whether there is opportunity in the modern business world depends upon the individual and how he plans his life, Supt. W. L. Miller of the Mansfield schools said last night in a talk before the Community Youth forum at the First Congregational church.

Supt. Miller, who spoke on "Looking Toward the Future," asserted "life does not have ready-made answers for its problems. The answers are in us. One of the greatest problems is that of overcoming obstacles due to limited educational opportunities, physical handicaps and environment."

"Young people are wrong when they say there are not as many areas of opportunity today as existed several years ago," he added. "There is much to be discovered and developed in every field."

The youth must make a survey of himself to discover what his possibilities are and what he is going to be, Supt. Miller asserted. "Set up your moral, educational and religious ideals, and determine what your social aims and purposes are."

Henry Sanford was in charge of the devotonals for the meeting.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston will be the speaker at the forum next Sunday night when the group will meet at the First Presbyterian church. His topic will be "Narcotics." Dr. W. E. Wygant will be the conference leader.

GAY DUSTERS

Why dust with drab looking rags when you can use cloths in pretty colors? Some stores sell a set of ten nice-size dusters in a package which make dusting a pleasure instead of drudgery. If you cannot find them, you can make them yourself of soft material. A set of these in a pretty bag would make a nice bridal shower gift. They may be chemically treated so that they are absorbent, and several colors can be used.

Sheer Blouse Dainty For Easter Wear

With the popularity of suits of every description for spring wear the blouse is destined to play an important role. A suit is just as charming and different as the blouse worn with it. Pictured above is a washable swiss organdie blouse with val lace edged jabot and cuffs. The jabot is cut in petals and the fabric itself is a flower print which makes this blouse particularly appropriate for Easter. It has a front closing and dainty puffed sleeves.
